Carrier's Captain Tells How Destroyer Was Sunk

Lost Warcraft Cut in Half
In 3 Seconds; 79 Men Missing

BY GORDON TAIT
SYDNEY, Australia (AP)—The 10,000-ton destroyer sank within 10 minutes. The stern remained afloat for three hours. The destroyer was a marvel of modern electronics—literally a push-button ship whose guns and steering could work automatically with radar.

No Moon, Sea Calm
Robertson, on the bridge of the carrier at the time, told reporters there was no moon but the sea was calm and conditions generally good for the maneuver.

"We had been engaged in night flying exercises which require the carrier to move as fast as possible," Robertson said.

"Both ships were blacked out except for the port and starboard and red masthead lights. 'Melbourne hit Voyager amidships, cutting through her like a knife. Voyager split clean in halves. The halves slid down our sides.'"

"Voyager slid easily under our bow. Melbourne did not even rise when she hit."

"I ordered engines astern (reversing propellers) and we drifted away from the two sections of the Voyager."

"The immediate thoughts of our officers and men were to organize rescue operations. These carried out by members of Melbourne were very smooth."

France Acts For Embassy In Red China

PARIS (AP)—The Foreign Ministry officially announced today the appointment of Claude Chayet as French chargé d'affaires in Peking. He will leave for Red China next Tuesday.

Chayet will set the stage for the arrival of France's first ambassador to Red China, who has not yet been named.

The ministry announcement said Red China's newly named charge d'affaires, Sung Chin-Kuang, is expected to reach Paris some time this week.

The way was cleared for the appointment of the charge d'affaires when relations between Paris and Nationalist China were broken Monday.

Chayet, 43, has been consul in Oran, Algeria. He was a member of the French delegation to the Evian-les-Bains peace talks that ended the Algerian conflict and gave Algeria its independence.

Somalia Agrees to Halt Border Fighting

MOGADISHU, Somalia (AP)—Responding to a peace plea from U.N. Secretary-General U Thant, the government of Somalia has ordered an immediate cease-fire in its border fighting with Ethiopia.

Both Prime Minister Abdirahman Ali Shermarke of Somalia and Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia hailed Thant's appeal, but each accused the other of border violations.

Russia Says Nosenko's Defection Prompted by Western Agencies

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet disinformation responsible for Nosenko's defection, K. Tsarapkin said today "provocative activity" by Western intelligence agencies in Switzerland led to the defection of a member of his delegation, Yuri Nosenko.

The State Department disclosed Monday that Nosenko, 38, identified as an officer of the KGB, top Soviet security agency, had requested political asylum in the United States.

Statement to Press
State Department press officer Richard I. Phillips said Nosenko had told U.S. officials he was a staff officer of the KGB sent to Geneva on temporary duty from security headquarters in Moscow.

In a prepared statement read to newsmen Tsarapkin accused the Swiss authorities of tolerating this activity on the sidelines of the 17-nation disarmament conference. He made it clear he considered Switzerland responsible for Nosenko's defection.

He called on the Swiss to "take all necessary measures to return Nosenko to his place of work and to his family."

Nosenko disappeared from Geneva Feb. 4.

Since he presumably had access to secret Soviet disarmament and defense information, Nosenko is a great prize for western intelligence agencies.

Asked about Tsarapkin's demand that the Swiss take steps to return Nosenko to Geneva, a high ranking Swiss official in Bern said privately:

"Delegates at the disarmament conference are free to come and go as they please. We are not their nurses."

Tsarapkin's statement contained no direct criticism of Nosenko or of the United States.

Western officials pointed out that Tsarapkin did not even accuse the U.S. Central Intelligence Agency of having spirited

Nosenko away, but merely spoke of "foreign intelligence agencies."

One Western delegate said this indicated the Soviet Union does not want Nosenko's defection to poison the atmosphere at the disarmament talks.

It was Tsarapkin's first comment on the case since Nosenko disappeared.

Wants Swiss to Act
The Soviet delegate read his brief statement grim-faced and declined to answer any questions.

"I have nothing further to say," he declared as he marched out of the room followed by his chief advisers.

His statement indicated that he expects the Swiss to call on the United States to return Nosenko to Geneva and deliver him to the Soviet delegation.

The Swiss were expected to reject both the Soviet complaint

Young Sinatra Britain, U. S. Offer Court Upsets
May Testify in Plan for Landing of Annexation at
Kidnaping Case Troops on Cyprus Fond du Lac

Defense Lawyers Charge Hoax in Abduction by Trio

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Frank Sinatra Jr. may get his day in court today to answer defense accusations that he helped stage his own kidnaping so he "could make the girls swoon as his papa once did."

The 19-year-old singer's name was on a list of potential witnesses handed defense attorneys by the government. Others on the list included Milton Rudin, lawyer for the elder Sinatra, and Mrs. Nancy Sinatra, divorced wife of the famed star.

A number of employees of Harrah's Club at Lake Tahoe, Nev., also are on the list, along with trumpeter John Foss and Tino Barzi, manager of the revamped Tommy Dorsey band.

$240,000 Ransom Paid
Foss was found bound and gagged when two gunmen invaded the Lake Tahoe motel room and took Sinatra Jr. away last Dec. 8. Some 54 hours later, he was released unharmed after his father had paid $240,000 in small bills following a series of phone calls.

Barry Keenan, 23, Joseph Amsler, 23, and John Irwin, 42, are charged in U.S. District Court with the kidnaping of young Sinatra.

Their lawyers, in opening statements, all said that the evidence would show no kidnaping but instead a publicity hoax.

Named as Buyer of Gun
"Mrs. Gladys Towles Root, counsel for Irwin, said: 'An apple doesn't fall far from its tree, and Frankie Jr. just wanted to make the girls swoon as his father once did.'"

The government followed the defense opening statements with a parade of witnesses who identified Keenan as the buyer of a gun which the government said was used in the abduction; the renter of a suburban Canoga Park house which the government contends was the hide-out used by the trio to keep Sinatra prisoner, and the man who ordered a telephone installed in the house, a phone which the prosecution holds was used for ransom demands.

Confer With Makarios as New Clashes Break Out

BY HAL MCCLURE
NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP)—Undersecretary of State George Ball and British envoy Cyril Pickard called on President Makarios today to present the latest U.S.-British plan to land an international peace keeping force on Cyprus.

Ball hurried to the meeting shortly after he arrived from Turkey on his flying peace mission.

The conference took place as fighting between Greek and Turkish communities flared anew in the south coastal city of Limassol, 38 miles southwest of Nicosia. At least one Greek Cypriot policeman was killed, a palace spokesman said.

A spokesman for the Greek Cypriot president said the talks will decide whether Makarios will take the case to the United Nations. If they are considered unsatisfactory, a special Greek Cypriot delegation probably will be sent to U.N. headquarters in New York later this week.

No Word on Landing
Ball told newsmen he hoped to have full discussions with Makarios and Vice President Fazil Kitchuk, a Turkish Cypriot.

He refused to comment on a newsmen's query as to when American troops would land on Cyprus as part of a U.S.-British plan for a peace-making force.

There were no signs of anti-American demonstrations in Nicosia and Greek Cypriot officials insisted they expected none.

Nicosia rumbled with threats of a new flareup of Greek Cypriot violence. Two bomb explosions at the U.S. Embassy last week sent women and children of American personnel fleeing from the Mediterranean island.

Clashes between Greek police and students marked Ball's stopover at Athens Monday as demonstrators demanding union between Cyprus and Greece tried to march on the U.S. and British embassies.

Britain was one target before.

Decision Nullifies Ordinance, 187-Acre Land Acquisition

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court declared void today a 1961 Fond du Lac annexation ordinance which added 187 acres to the city including property of the Kieckhafer Corp. and International Paper Co.

The court also reversed a Fond du Lac Circuit Court judgment which allowed the city to collect property taxes on the annexed land.

In a decision by Justice E. Harold Hallows, the Supreme Court said Fond du Lac showed "a shocking disregard of the political processes of government" in its conduct of the annexation.

Fond du Lac proceeded with the annexation even though Kieckhafer and International Paper secured a temporary restraining order. Circuit Judge Russell E. Hanson found the city in contempt and levied a $150 fine.

Modified Order
But Hanson modified the order to allow the city to place the property on the tax rolls and collect taxes. International said the Circuit Court action resulted in a boost in the company's property taxes of from $10,172 in 1961 to $35,406 in 1962.

The tax question was appealed to the high court, but the court reserved its decision until it could rule on the annexation itself.

Reversing the circuit court on the question of taxes, Hallows said Fond du Lac was allowed to collect them, but that the public services were left to be furnished by the city.

Douglas-Home, Johnson Begin 2-Day Conference

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson welcomed British prime minister to Washington today with a remark that the United States and Britain are much like two brothers who squabble occasionally "but whose ties are too strong ever to break."

Johnson, addressing Sir Alec Douglas-Home in a formal ceremony at the north portico of the White House, said, "May God bless our work together."

Looking ahead to two days of talks on a multitude of world trouble spots, Johnson said he met in friendship "with a high resolve to face our common problems and to try to solve them for the common good."

Douglas-Home said much of their talk undoubtedly will focus on ways and means to promote world order and stability.

Mother, 2 Tots Burned Critically

BLOOMER, Wis. (AP)—A flash fire caused by an exploding oil space heater raced through a Chippewa County farm home Tuesday killing three small children and burning their mother and two other children.

The victims were identified as Susan and Jeffrey Marx, 6-year-old twins, and their brother, Calvin, 5.

Their mother, Mrs. Doris Marx, 30, and two other children, Merten, 2, and a daughter, Terri, 1, were rushed to a Bloomer hospital by a neighbor.

They were reported in critical condition early today.

Heater Blows Up
Bloomer Fire Chief Raymond Klukas said an oil space heater in the living room blew up and the fire engulfed the home in minutes. He said by the time fire fighters arrived the home was half gone.

The neighbor, Philip Peil, 33, said he saw the farm house "burning like a ball of fire" and Mrs. Marx outside with her two younger children. Peil said that the woman's hair and clothing were aflame. The children's clothing also was burning.

Peil extinguished the flames and drove the three to the hospital.

Phones Disrupted
Relatives said that Calvin attended kindergarten in the morning and returned home at noon. The other school age children were home with chicken pox.

The fire disrupted telephone service in the area. Authorities were investigating the blaze today.

Mrs. Marx' husband, Bernard, was at work as a machinist in Bloomer. Their farm house is about three miles northeast of Bloomer. The family moved here from Eau Claire last year.

Your Problems

Standing Passenger Must Carry Own Parcel, Ann Says

BY ANN LANDERS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Your recent advice to "Sitting Duck" — that standing passengers on a bus should not ask seated passengers to hold their parcels — did not measure up to your usual standards of compassion.

I used to be a stenographer in a law firm where it was Landers customary for the office staff to celebrate with the birthday girl. The treat they all liked best was potato chips and a cheese dip.

The day it was my turn to bring the cheese dip I prepared the treat in a large glass bowl which weighed about 10 pounds. I got on the bus carrying the bowl of cheese dip wrapped in a tablecloth.

The bus was crowded and I didn't get a seat. I will never forget the agony of trying to hold the bowl of cheese dip with one hand and hang on to the bus pole with the other. After 15 minutes my arms felt as if they were about to fall off. I was tempted to drop the bowl on the head of the man who was seated under my nose.

Since that day whenever I get a seat on the bus and I see a standing passenger struggling with a parcel I offer to hold it. No doubt "Sitting Duck" will do the same if the shoe ever gets on the other foot — Standing Duck.

Dear Duckey: The advice holds. A standing passenger should not ask a seated passenger to hold a parcel, lunch, purse, child or a bowl of cheese dip. Any seated passenger who would not offer to help without being asked is such a clod he would undoubtedly say no anyway.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Recently my husband and I moved to a new city. We do not know a soul in this town. After having had a large number of friends in the city we used to live in, we feel very much alone.

My husband works in an organization which employs about thirty people. He says the men at work are all pleasant but not one of them has expressed any interest in getting together socially.

I am a congenial person and I would not be uncomfortable about phoning some of the wives of the young men I'll call him and inviting them over. Is this proper? Or should we wait for one of them to make the first move? — L.O. of L.A.

Dear L.O.: It is not proper for the wife of a new man to phone the wife of an "old timer," in an attempt to get acquainted.

Join a church auxiliary, League of Women Voters, or a service group. Check to see if your city has a Newcomer's Club. (They are great!)

Before long you will surely meet women with whom you are compatible. You can then invite them to your home for an evening — with their husbands.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I am a 17-year-old girl and a devoted Landers reader. I've wanted to write to you many times and can put it off no longer. I must tell you what you have done for me.

The letter from the tall girl who had fallen for the short guy did it. I had been fighting a heavy crush for months because the young man I'll call him Rob is four inches shorter than I am. When I saw your sincere and witty advice to the tall girl I knew it was meant for me.

Since I read that column my embarrassment about Rob's height disappeared into thin air. You said all the things I

TAFFY'S TIPS

By Dolly Martin

SOAKING SHOES

IF YOU'RE CAUGHT without your boots in pouring rain and get soaked clear through, hurry home before you catch your death of cold. Take off your shoes outside the door and don't ruin mother's floors. Now wash those feet in warm water, dry them good, and put on your house slippers. Then quickly get back to those soaking shoes. Stuff the toes with crumpled paper towels before putting them aside to dry. This will prevent them from curling at the toes.

(Copyright 1964)

The words were spoken by Chief Justice Earl Warren at the First World Conference for Peace Through Law held from June 31 to July 6 in Athens, Greece, and reported by Mrs. Walter Brummund at the annual luncheon meeting of Lawyers Wives of Outagamie County Tuesday noon at Butte des Morts Golf Club. Mrs. Brummund attended the conference with her attorney husband, appointed by the National Bar Association as a conference observer. Each attending nation—there were 105 represented—sent two delegates and a group of observers to the sessions, the speaker noted. The U.S. had 60 observers, the largest number, followed by Japan with 50. The U.S.S.R. had no delegates at the conference, although Czechoslovakia was represented.

Suited to Peace Justice Warren told the Conference that the profession of law was particularly suited to the making of peace. He cited the old argument of which came first, civilization or law. He told of the milestones in law, and how much of it originated in Greece.

Mrs. Brummund stated that delegates, observers and their wives lunched each day at tables for 10, all speaking broken English, French or German, and managing to get along quite well. Many of the delegates were from the new nations of Africa, men in government or professors of law.

Henry Luce also spoke at the sessions, giving the "Layman's View of the Law." Mr. Luce quoted the beatitude, "Blessed are the Peacemakers," emphasizing that peace must be made, not kept; that it is not an unearned gift, and that it is won through economic cooperation and diplomacy. Peace, he said, is the work of justice.

Social, Cultural Events Conference representatives were welcomed, Mrs. Brummund said, by the King and Queen of Greece at the opening session. Among social events planned for the visitors were dinners and programs of Greek dancing. She told of a a two hour boat ride and a one hour trip by bus to reach the theater. It began to rain and the performance was cancelled. On the way back, people from dozens of countries sang world folk songs together, with foreign tongues replaced by humming.

The final evening of the Conference a black tie dinner was scheduled. Dignitaries were re-splendent, she observed, and, during the evening, the lights were turned out for a few moments. As they went back on, 20 or 30 doves, symbols of peace, were released in the dining room. The doves, not briefed in proper procedure, landed in the chandeliers, on draperies, and on dinner tables where they ate crumbs.

Establish Center At the close of the sessions, delegates passed a resolution establishing a World Law Center, now located temporarily in Washington, D.C. but scheduled later to be set up in The Hague or Athens. Delegates also discussed law in outer space, and the responsibility for the hundreds of foreign objects now hurtling through space. They also passed a resolution that declared a landing on any other planet be done in the name of the United Nations rather than of individual countries. The delegates made plans to strengthen the World Court and the United Nations and to establish a World Law Day.

Mrs. Brummund supplemented her talk with the showing of slides made during the trip.

Place Towel Bar Low for Children

If your youngster irritates you by never hanging up his towels, perhaps it's because he just can't reach the towel rack! Why not remedy this situation by attaching a clip-on towel rack to the side of the wash basin, or suction cup a towel rack to the wall - low down. This strategy may also encourage him to reach for the soap to wash his hands and face more often.

Outagamie Studies Police Accidents, Uniform Allowance

Committees to Prepare Reports For Past 2 Years for March Session

Driving records and clothing allowance administration for Outagamie County traffic police will be reviewed by the county board at its March session.

Supr. Al C. Fischer (Appleton 15th) asked for complete reports for the past two years on both factors Tuesday after a clothing allowance bill was questions and the police driving records criticized. Responsible committees were instructed to prepare the reports and present them to the board in March.

Earlier in the day Supr. Sylvester Esler (Appleton 18th) suggested next year the insurance program for traffic police be revised. He recommended changing it so accidents in which police or members of their families might become involved during off-duty hours, do not reflect on the county's insurance record.

"Lot of Accidents"

"It does seem like our police have a lot of accidents. I'm glad we don't have 20 officers to compound the situation," said Supr. Eugene F. Kloes (Appleton 4th).

Kloes also questioned a clothing allowance payment listed in approved bills. He asked why, if the annual allowance per policeman was $75, were clothing purchases totaling $121.42 approved for Patrolman Stanley Arnold.

When it was suggested the policeman might possibly have had a balance due from 1963 or had made purchases in 1963 which were not delivered until this year, Kloes said clothing allowance balances were not transferable from year to year.

State Tips Off Speculators, Forester Claims

Published Land Acquisition Plans Key Maneuvering

MADISON — Private speculators have moved into the market opened up by the state's published plans for the acquisition of huge acreages of wild lands for recreational development.

John Beale, state forester and assistant conservation director, made the disclosure at a meeting of a legislative interim committee set up to study current problems in the state natural resources conservation program.

Beale said speculators have, in effect, been given advance tips about the state's purchase plans in the published budgets of his agency, and have moved into the areas hoping to raise land prices in the designated acquisition districts. His testimony concurred with earlier complaints of the conservation commission and Conservation Director L. P. Voigt.

Long Standing Deadlock

The incident related directly to a long-standing deadlock in the legislature. Issues involved include the recreational project priorities from the biennial appropriations law under the new land buying program and abolishing the supervising recreation committee. This would turn over the administration of recreational land buying development program exclusively to the conservation department.

The Reynolds administration has resisted such a change. Assemblyman Paul Alfonsi, Minn. chairman of the interim study committee, has been its principal advocate. The legislature in November was unable to resolve the conflict. Another attempt will be made at the April session.

The department and Alfonsi claim that by deleting the mandatory list of projects at two-year intervals, the state won't be advertising its intentions and creating an artificial market. By eliminating the priorities list, Alfonsi told the committee, the speculators would also be frustrated.

"I'd like to see some of them get stuck," he said.

Critics of the priorities system insist that it is unfairly driving up prices of parcels and which the state is trying to buy.

United Services Should Study National Health Foundations

UCS Director Advises Annual Meeting to Consider Foundations

United Community Services' UCS office in Appleton can receive reports on some 900 national agencies through the National Information Bureau, which rates them on acceptable minimum standards for voluntary health agencies, A. Rowland Todd, UCS executive director, recommended at the annual meeting Monday.

Taking a broad look at UCS needs and problems, Todd urged increased attention to community planning and study of expanding the area served by UCS beyond its present boundaries.

Todd estimated total operating expenditures for health, welfare and leisure time in the community at about $5 million a year. The total operating expenses of the 10 Red Feather agencies are about $500,000, and 55 per cent of this is provided through the campaign, he said.

Some Thought

The UCS has given some thought to making the campaign more inclusive, but to date has not included any of the major national agencies, he said. "I feel we have some responsibility to support those national agencies which participate in a process of citizen review of their programs, budget and support plans."

Inclusion of Outagamie County Chapter of the American Red Cross in the Red Feather campaign is being "actively explored" by both the Red Cross and the UCS at the present time, Todd said.

Todd said some large national agencies refuse to make public a complete financial statement of their operations. For persons who want information on an organization before contributing to or working for it, he said the

Election Day Hours For Taverns May Be Changed Soon

Closing of Appleton taverns on election day soon may be a thing of the past.

The common council's welfare ordinance committee met Tuesday night and recommended approval of an ordinance which would permit pubs to remain open.

A revision of the state statute in 1963 gave municipalities the option of allowing taverns to remain open or have them closed during voting hours.

Elections will be held this year in March, April and November. Previously, the council authorized the tavern opening policy to be included in ordinance re-enactment.

Because the council will not vote on the streamlined ordinance until later in the year, a separate ordinance will be required to allow taverns to remain open on each election day. In the past, all taverns have been closed during the time polls have been open on election day.

Lawrence Plans $400,000 Memorial Chapel Revamping

Work Scheduled to Begin in June; Completion Due in December

A $400,000 remodeling of Lawrence Memorial Chapel, including a rebuilding of the organ, will be done this year, according to the Lawrence board of trustees.

Work will begin in June, and is scheduled for completion in December.

The remodeling will cost more than three times the original $135,000 cost of the building in 1918.

The chapel is dedicated to Myra Goodwin Plantz and Helen Fairfield Naylor, deceased wives of President Samuel Plantz and Dean Wilson Naylor. The organ was completed in 1934 as a memorial to Plantz.

Originally built by public subscription among the citizens of Appleton and Lawrence alumni, the chapel is a neo-classic colonial structure modeled after a Congregational Church in Danbury, Conn.

Padded Seats

The 1,450 seat auditorium will be furnished with upholstered theater seats, and its heating and ventilating system completely altered to include air conditioning.

Excavation beneath the present lobby will provide rest rooms and public facilities not included in the original building.

The stage will be revised to create a concert hall without a proscenium arch. Organ pipes will be exposed across the width and nine feet above the stage, a series of sound reflecting "clouds" will be installed above the stage, and acoustical substances placed at various points in the auditorium. A portable shell will be used on the stage whenever an intimate feeling is desired for individual artists and small ensembles.

The public address system, with a series of small speakers beneath each balcony, will include a delayed output from the microphone so reinforced and actual sounds will be synchronized.

The chapel's lighting, both stage and house, will include side lights and follow spots. Light boxes will be cut into the auditorium ceiling, and house-lighting will be altered and given several remote controls.

Some seats will be sacrificed when stairwells are enclosed and walkways added between rows. Remodeling in the basement of the chapel will provide space

Democratic Rift May Broaden at Caucus

Action Seen if Chairman Is Asked To Resign Again at Eighth District Meeting Tuesday in Green Bay

BY MARK E. OLIVA Post-Crescent Staff Writer

An Eighth Congressional District Democratic Party split may break wide open if District Chairman Robert McCormick, Green Bay, is asked to resign again at Tuesday's district caucus in Green Bay.

The caucus was called to elect district delegates to the national party convention, but at the business meeting following the election, Outagamie Democrats said they will attempt to bring the resolution, tabled at the last caucus, Jan. 10, to a vote.

Outagamie Party Chairman Lester Balliet, Appleton, said before speaking here Thursday, State Chairman Louis Hanson will confer with county party officials on Tuesday's caucus. Hanson is slated to give a talk at the Outagamie County Bank Civic Center at 8 p.m. Thursday.

Marinette Proposals

At the January caucus, a resolution was introduced by Marinette County party representatives asking McCormick to resign. The proposal's sponsors had charged McCormick and Hanson with convincing Gov. John Reynolds to bypass their suggestion for a replacement sheriff appointment.

Reynolds appointed Raymond Mattison, Amberg. The county party unit recommended Bernard Prestine, Peshigo, twice a candidate for the post.

Marinette County's charges were followed by complaints by Oconto County representatives claiming $700 earned at a summer fund-raising dinner and turned over to McCormick never was put into the district treasury.

McCormick told the caucus the money was in a Green Bay bank. Balliet said Charles Sinclair, Manitowish, district treasurer, told him McCormick turned over all but $5 of the funds to him recently, since the January caucus.

Balliet claims Outagamie, Oconto, Marinette and Manitowish counties' delegations will lead the drive to again bring up the vote to force McCormick's resignation.

The Outagamie party leader, including Balliet and vice chairman William Cherkasky and Dean Lewis, long have been at odds with the McCormick faction. The disagreement came to

William Knuth Named to New Committee

William Knuth, public school director of business affairs, will represent the Appleton Board of Education on a new coordinating committee planned to improve liaison between various city agencies on construction and planning activities.

The board received a letter Monday from Appleton Mayor Clarence Mitchell explaining the committee, and appointed Knuth as its representative.

The mayor's letter said a joint meeting of the street and sanitation committee, water commission, park board and city planning commission was held to establish a climate for better coordination of construction and planning activities among various agencies of the city.

Groups Agreed

These groups agreed the mayor should appoint a coordinating committee made up of representatives of private and public utilities, certain city department heads and a representative of the board of education.

Purpose of the committee is to improve liaison between these various agencies and "to eliminate some of the confusion arising from the lack of knowledge of projected activities of these agencies," the letter said.

Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz told the board the committee will synchronize activity-school board in regard to installation of sewer and water mains and grading and graveling streets to future school buildings.

Recent Snags

The board has run into snags on public improvements projects in connection with recent school construction. Streets to be installed just before the opening of school last fall, and the lack of streets and water raised problems during construction.

At a recent school board meeting, Mayor Mitchell chided the board for not working more closely with the council's school advisory committee to avoid problems that have cropped up during construction and planning of the Johnston Junior High School and the proposed senior high school.

Official Map

Amendment to the ordinance and official county map were recommended by the county board of adjustments.

A general updating of the county zoning ordinance is slated for the March session along with action on an ordinance establishing land use practices in the vicinity of the new Outagamie County Airport.

Pick Appleton Officers For Salvation Army

Joseph Shiff Is Re-Elected Chairman of Advisory Board; Group Aided 107 Families

Joseph Shiff was re-elected chairman of the Salvation Army advisory board at the annual meeting Tuesday.

Guest speaker at the meeting was Lt. Col. Harold Crowell, Milwaukee, divisional commander of the Salvation Army Central Territory.

Other 1964 officers are Robert Chase, new vice chairman; Marwin Wroldstad, re-elected treasurer, and Thomas Orbison, new secretary. Retiring officers are Robert Spooner, chairman, and Mrs. O. C. Boldt, secretary. Chase was treasurer last year with Wroldstad.

New members elected for three-year terms on the advisory board are Mrs. Arnold Evans, K. K. DuVall, Howard Thelin, Ron Tusler and Corwin Van Housen. Other board members are Mrs. Boldt, Spooner, Herbert Crane, Dr. Charles Fenion, Dr. Gilbert Mueller Jr. and Mrs. Ralph Nelson.

Retiring Members

Retiring board members are Robert Rae, Mrs. William Siekman, Louis Waltman and Julius Weinberg.

The annual report presented by Capt. Jacob Bender showed the Salvation Army gave assistance to 107 families during 1963. This help included 16 rent orphans, 18 pairs of shoes, 403 garments and 124 items of furniture, bedding and household supplies.

Some 207 transient individuals received assistance. Lodging was supplied for 99, 167 were given meals, and 68 were given shoes and clothing.

Christmas Orders

Christmas grocery orders were given to 57 families and 315 toys were distributed at Christmas. Some 948 individuals were visited in convalescent homes and hospitals, and 1,343 articles were distributed to them. Three Outagamie County girls were helped through the unwed mothers' service.

The statistics showed that 4,553 persons attended 223 senior meetings, and 5,815 persons attended 261 young people's meetings.

The Salvation Army had income of $24,780, including $11,400 from United Community Services, during 1963. Disbursements totaled $24,625.

Host Pleads Guilty to Teen Party Charge

Combined Locks Man Served Beer To 29 Minors

Kenneth Hamilton, 25, 525 Marcella Ave., Combined Locks, who used a loud speaker system to instruct teen-agers at his home beer parties what to do in case of a police raid, pleaded guilty Tuesday to contributing to the delinquency of 29 minors.

Hamilton and two others who were at the Hamilton home Saturday night when it was raided by sheriff's deputies appeared in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

Steven A. Gerhardt, 20, 1221 E. Fremont St., pleaded innocent of disorderly conduct and obstructing a police officer and will face trial May 27. He was being held in lieu of bonds of $100 and $300 in Outagamie County jail. Both incidents arose from the Hamilton home raid.

Fined $100
Richard C. Underwood, 22, 1312 S. Kernan Ave., was fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail on a charge he gave false information to police. He was sentenced to an additional 30 days when he kicked the swinging doors of the gate in the courtroom and was cited for contempt of court by County Judge Gustave Keller, after being refused Huber law privileges.

Hamilton, a father of three children, was being held without bond in the Outagamie County jail for a presentence investigation. He is to be sentenced Feb. 25.

Similar Parties
Lt. Joseph Vandenoever testified Hamilton had conducted several similar parties in the past and Hamilton felt the parties kept children out of teenage taverns and off the highways.

Underwood was charged after he told police at the party he was married to a 16-year-old girl. The girl was then released to his custody. Later investigation showed the couple was not married.

Gerhardt allegedly indicated to police and deputies he was married to a 17-year-old girl at the party, but later investigation is alleged to show he was not. The girl was likewise turned over to Gerhardt's custody at the party.

Gebhardt is alleged to have become belligerent when he was being taken to the courthouse for questioning. He has been held in the county jail since the party.

Vandenoever said juvenile court action has been started on two juveniles at the party and further investigation will be done on others who participated. The participants ranged in age from 15 to 25 years.

Management Session At St. Norbert to Hear Big Industry Speakers
American industrial giants will be well represented in a speakers program for a management conference at St. Norbert College Memorial Union Thursday.

International Business Machines, General Electric, General Motors, Sears Roebuck and Co., and the Wisconsin Telephone Co. will have representatives at the one-day session sponsored by the Society for the Advancement of Management (SAM).

Lead speaker on the conference theme, "The Structures of Organization," will be S. P. Chase Jr. of IBM's Chicago office, according to James Younk, Green Bay, president of the St. Norbert SAM chapter.

General Electric representative, T. Cardiff, Milwaukee, will follow Chase. Next will be Raymond Darling, Detroit, from General Motors.

R. C. Hiller Jr. of Chicago, will speak for Sears Roebuck and Co. followed by Norman O'Neil, Milwaukee from the Wisconsin Telephone Co.

Man Admits Stealing Purse Containing $39
A 21-year-old man being held in the Appleton city jail had admitted taking a purse from a woman who was doing her washing at a laundromat Tuesday.

Mrs. Sue Weiss, 410 1/2 W. Eighth St., told police her purse was taken from the Sundial Laundromat. A man answering the description was later arrested by police. The man had been seen changing large amounts of coins for paper money in a nearby tavern.

Mrs. Weiss said she had $39 in her purse, and $20 was in change. The man will be charged sometime today, police said.

St. Therese Band Will Play At Green Bay

The St. Therese Catholic School band will present a program at St. Philip Catholic Church, Green Bay, at 2:30 p.m. Friday.

The band received the invitation from Sister Jullita, supervising teacher of the diocesan Catholic schools, who was principal at St. Therese 13 years ago and helped start the band. The band has been organized since 1951, and is believed to be one of the oldest parochial grade school bands in the diocese to be in continuous operation.

Harold McKenzie is band director. About 60 fourth through eighth graders play in the band.

viding the service it would require an expenditure of about $7,100 annually.

He asked for an opinion by the board before March 15. It was referred to the education committee.

Expenditures to be assessed against the new Outagamie County Airport cropped up from two unexpected sources. The board chairman and clerk were authorized to enter into agreements with Wisconsin Michigan Power Co. and the Wisconsin Telephone Co. for removal and relocation of utility poles at the airport site.

Corporation Counsel A. W. Ponath said relocating the power firm's facilities would cost an estimated $1,800 while the telephone company would seek about $1,200 to $1,300 for the project.

Form of Condemnation
Many supervisors felt the utilities firms should bear the entire cost burden as they do during highway widening work. Ponath said he has checked by statutes, and assured the supervisors demands placed on the firms was a form of condemnation action which entitled them to reimbursement.

Emmett Root (Town of Ellington) questioned a $6,982 payment to the Long, Wiecker and Karel real estate agency.

Ponath said this was the firm's 1 1/2 per cent commission for negotiating the purchase of $465,500 worth of airport site property by the county.

One more claim was added to the dog damage allowances, swelling the total to $1,514.

The agriculture and conservation committee was authorized to attend a special conference at Marshfield.

Error Made in Contract Report

Due to an error in the contract resolution adopted by the Outagamie County Board Tuesday the Post-Crescent reported the adjusted general contract awarded to Theodore Uischig & Sons Inc., at $197,007. It should have been $132,890.

Accounting for the difference was a general contract credit $174,213 instead of the $178,326 reported for a substitute building listed leading figure. He explained that 997 from the contingent fund to the home's expenditures had exceeded its budget by that amount but that its revenues also topped expectations by $55,290 leaving it $4,210 to the good.

Other fund transfers were $343, telephone operators: $1, County Business Administrator $36, assessment of taxes: $491, Alvin Woehler said plans were to liquidate the hospital's total district attorney $2,902, county $458,676 deficit in a three-year program.

Earl Wrightson, Lois Hunt Exciting In Oshkosh Town, Gown Concert

Pair Presents Reminiscent Musical Panorama of 20th Century Theater

BY MARK E. OLIVA
Post-Crescent Staff Writer
OSHKOSH — Broadway, operatic and recording stars Earl Wrightson and Lois Hunt painted a stirringly reminiscent and musically exciting panorama of the American theater in the 20th Century before a capacity crowd in the third Town and Gown series program here Tuesday.

Judging not only by his key-board talent, which equalled the singers' vocal talents, but also by enthusiastic audience reaction, piano accompanist Fred Woolstrom deserves immediate mention.

The loudest, longest ovation of the night went to Woolstrom after he played a thrilling medley of George Gershwin favorites, including excerpts from "Rhapsody in Blue" and "Concerto in F."

Wrightson introduced what he termed "the make-believe world of the Broadway theater" with a light note, singing the theme of the recent Lerner and Loewe success, "Camelot."

Dashing Era
Then he and Miss Hunt traced back to the dashing romantic and bubbling days of the Romberg-Friml-Herbert era, including a bouncing rendition of "Every Day is Ladies Day" by Victor Herbert and Sigmund Romberg's beautiful "Sweetheart."

The era advanced, and together the duo presented a sprightly version of "Make Believe" from Jerome Kern's "Showboat," followed by Wrightson's best solo of the evening, also from "Showboat," the beautiful "Ole Man River." The song, a "contemporary classic" among strong baritone, could not have been performed with more dynamism. And at its conclusion, the audience paused in a slight state of awe before offering a hearty, well-deserved ovation.

After the intermission, the program presented the contemporary era, explained by Wrightson as the stage music of the last 25 years.

Outdoors Broadway
As in the first half, Wrightson opened with a selection from the "make-believe" world of "Camelot," this time singing the beautiful love song, "If Ever I Would Leave You," and easily outdid Robert Goulet, who performed the work in the Broadway offering.

Miss Hunt scored her high note for the evening with "Theme from Carnival," recent Broadway success by Robert Merrill. Her fascinating interpretation of the "love makes the world go 'round" song filled the auditorium with strains of the callopie.

Town and Gown's final of four offerings for the season, the Roger Wagner Chorale, will appear Wednesday, Feb. 26.

Arraignment of Three Men Facing Burglary Charges Continued

OSHKOSH — County Judge James V. Sitter Tuesday afternoon set 2 p.m. Monday for further arraignment of three Neenah men charged with a total of 38 burglaries.

Dist. Atty. Jack Steinhilber Tuesday filed additional counts from other counties against John Bille, 25, 954 Cold Spring Road; Roman Koerber, 37, 208 Abbey Ave., and Karl Campbell, 21, 150 E. Forest Ave.

Bond was continued at $15,000 each.

Fourteen of the burglaries occurred in Winnebago County, eight in Outagamie County, six in Waupaca County, three in Fond du Lac County, two in Waushara County, two in Calumet County and three in Shawano County.

Bille is charged with nine Winnebago break-ins and 24 in the other counties; Koerber in 10 Winnebago burglaries and three in other counties and Campbell is charged with three break-ins in Winnebago County and 21 in the other counties.

a head when McCormick defeated Cheskasky for the district chairmanship at the district convention in June. McCormick won on a second ballot.

Balliet said Outagamie officials have been in contact with leaders from other county units and have strong support for the move. He said the Outagamie party today was starting a strong drive for county attendance at the caucus and attempting to secure transportation.

Voice Concerns
At the February Outagamie chapter executive committee meeting, Cheskasky voiced concern over election of delegates to the national convention, charging one county with planning to seat all the delegates.

The executive committee agreed to try forcing through a resolution prior to voting allowing only one delegate per county. The state allows four delegates, two with one vote each and two with half a vote each.

Mrs. Shirley Cherkasky, Appleton, state Democratic vice chairman, said she is attempting to be seated as one of the district's delegates.

Both Hanson and Patrick Lucey, former state chairman, said they will attend the Green Bay caucus Tuesday.

Thursday evening the annual speech contest of the Appleton Toastmasters Club will be held at Alex's Manor House at 5:30 p.m.

This year's contest topic will be "Tolerance."

to encourage citizen participation in this planning job." "With the problems facing us in terms of new and expanded programs and the movement by Service Commission for a "sin- outside groups into this area, I feel we must decide whether we are going to face up to this and offer leadership or drift," he declared.

Make Progress

"Also I feel we have an opportunity in waging a war against poverty here to make some progress because the problems are not overwhelming like in Chicago or New York," the UCS director said. "However, we do have a fight here with over 500 hard core multi-problem families in our community. To get into this area will mean additional staff which means more budget for your UCS. It also will mean additional volunteer effort."

The final problem Todd raised was the question of the area served by UCS, now considered to be Appleton and the Town of Grand Chute. Six of the 10 UCS agencies cover a wider area than this, three draw people in from a wider area and the VNA is exploring expansion of its area of service, he said. Solicitation of funds is complicated because none of the large employers in this area are in Appleton, he said. "A more satisfactory solution is going to have to be found than limiting our area to its present boundaries," Todd said.

Parents Ask County to Cut Speed Limit

Outagamie County Board has been petitioned by 187 residents of the Badger School District to curb speeding in the vicinity of the school.

Petitioners complained of speeding between the Appleton city limits and U.S. 41 in the am afraid they are going to try to cram some of these downed our throats."

Governmental units planning miles per hour and to cooperate for health, welfare and leisure with the town board to install time services have said organizations like UCS have not demonstrated they are capable of doing the necessary job of planning. Todd said. "In fact, I do not think they feel it is wise: the highway committee.

Merchants Oppose Parking Ban on Oneida Street

Alderman, Planner Fail to Back Change in Proposal at Hearing

Opposition to the city's plan to ban parking on both sides of Oneida Street between Lawrence and Washington Streets was voiced Tuesday night by a group of Appleton business people.

However, at the close of the council's public safety committee meeting there was nothing that would indicate aldermen and City Planner Walter Rasmussen plan to revise their original recommendation.

The committee, Rasmussen and Police Chief Earl O. Wolff, contend a one-way street (Oneida) should not have parking on either side, and it's primary purpose is the movement of traffic in three lanes.

Merchants and the owner of an office building in the area in question are opposed to the parking ban because it would remove about 33 meters and parking spaces, which they claim are needed for their customers.

Not Harmful

City officials said the parking ban would not be harmful, pointing out the West Ramp was within a block or so.

However, the merchants — mostly operators of smaller shops — said customers were used to parking as near to the front of the establishment as possible to do their shopping. They claimed these people would be inconvenienced, and business would suffer.

Concern was expressed that there would be no bus-stop on Oneida Street.

The city's policy of renting out hoods for parking meters came in for criticism, and committee members agreed "the matter is out of hand" but said action would be taken to remedy the situation.

"However, I think it might be embarrassing to some business people if I named a few of the persons using hoods on Oneida Street," commented Ald. Robert Stumpf (9th).

One Side

A. M. Diedrich, one of the spokesmen for the merchants, suggested if the city would ban parking on only one side of Oneida Street, buses and some motorists still could be accommodated.

Other entries are B and B Tap, and Jack's Club Oasis, Oshkosh; Ray's Park Inn and Vic's Bar, Two Rivers; Timber Lodge, Manitowish; McGuire's, Lena; University Independents, Madison; Willie's Bar, Plover; Kusel's, Watertown; Forest Park, Barbers, Kenosha; City Service, Footville; Wisconsin Wire Works and Pond's Sports, Appleton; Ziefle's, Green Bay; Kaukauna Athletic Club; DeMark's, Bombardier; Racine; La Crosse Rubber Mills; and Reedsville Athletic Club.

Pairings will be announced Thursday. In addition to Sunday's three games, two will be played next Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, three Friday night and Saturday afternoon and night, two the following Sunday afternoon and evening and the finals on Sunday night, March 1.

The Church - Industrial meet continues Thursday night with two contests.

Marathon will tackle the Appleton Vocational School at 7 p.m. and the Post-Crescent and the Menasha City Employees will match points at 8:30. The finals will be played Sunday afternoon.

"Getting Facetious" "You're getting facetious when you say the loss of parking would affect you," Rasmussen told Conway. A private lot, and the East Ramp is located across the street from the hotel.

Conway thought Appleton was "too small of a town to sell people on the idea of walking a block and a half from a parking lot" to their downtown destination. He claimed Oneida Street was now an adequate traffic carrier and said restricting parking at this time was unwarranted.

Conway said the city would be taking away prime parking from business places on Oneida Street.

Rasmussen and Chief Wolff indicated there is a steady traffic buildup on the street, and said now was the time to make the change.

Owners of other shops on Oneida Street said customers told them they wanted to be able to park in front of the stores.

Question Side When others suggested that "no parking" be limited to just one side of the street, Stumpf asked what side they would recommend. There was some division of opinion.

Ald. Richard Huisman (1st) said parking could be permitted on the east side of the street.

Conway said he did not like one-way streets but thought they were necessary.

Board Holds to Policy On Teacher Retirement

Appleton Education Unit Denies

Two Requests for Contract Continuance

The Appleton Board of Education Monday decided not to make exceptions to its policy of retirement at 65 for teachers.

The board received letters from two teachers who will reach retirement age before the next school year, saying they would like to continue teaching. The teachers are Mrs. Florence J. Wilson, special education, and Mrs. Floy D. Boettcher, mathematics, at Roosevelt Junior High School.

Supt. of Schools Royce E. Kurtz told the board although both are excellent teachers, he did not believe the existing policy could justifiably be overruled.

Retired teachers have been hired as substitutes or on a temporary basis in emergencies, he said. He said he would rather continue on this basis than to set aside the policy.

Kurtz noted both teachers are in areas in which it is difficult to find replacements and they might be needed on a temporary basis, but said it was too early to be sure.

The retirement policy has been followed closely, and changing it in this case would mean opening an extension beyond 65 for all staff members, he said. For non-teaching employees the school system conforms to city policy of rehiring them on a year-to-year basis until the age of 70, he said.

The board also approved the midyear resignation of a high school teacher, but board member Franklin Nehs said "a little more thought should be given to the fact that there is a contract. There is an obligation to honor."

Nehs has expressed concern

Lawrence Library Gets 75,000 Books

Combining Downer Collection to Take College Staff Several Years

The task of appraising and absorbing 75,000 books confronts the Lawrence College library staff this year as it prepares to take over the Milwaukee Downer book collection.

Between the middle of June and July 1, all of Downer's moveable assets, including its library, will be transferred the one hundred miles from Milwaukee to Appleton. On the latter date the merger between the two institutions creating Lawrence University will be effected, and the Milwaukee campus will be vacated for its new owner, the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee.

Problems of the merger affect the whole Lawrence campus.

In the past about resignations during the school year by teachers. Supt. of Schools Royce Kurtz said he had received only four days notice on this resignation.

Other Board Action

In other action the board: —Received copies of the preliminary educational specifications for the proposed southeast senior high school, prepared by an Appleton High School faculty committee.

—Formally accepted the new Johnston School, which was officially inspected by the board Saturday, and authorized final payments to all contractors, except the electrical contractor, when the architect has received them on a year-to-year basis.

Some electrical work remains to be done. —Heard a discussion by John Gillespie, Fox Cities Youth for Christ director, of the goals and activities of the interdenominational youth organization and its plan for a 300-mile horseback ride this summer.

in the circulating collection as one now listed at $800.

Some Downer volumes are rare because of the beauty of their bindings in ivory, wood, metal or rich leather. Many beautifully bound books are made of inferior paper that becomes virtually unreadable over the years however, so Lawrence will not transfer books solely for their binding. Emerick pointed out.

To Emerick has fallen the responsibility of being Lawrence's Man in Milwaukee. He spent January in the Downer library, will travel there one day a week until the first of May, and remain on the scene thereafter until the move is completed.

Go Over List In assessing the Downer book collection, a Lawrence faculty member from each department is assisting Emerick in going over the shelf list.

Newsman Not Allowed Travel To Guantanamo

Pentagon Reviews Situation Daily For All Media

BY FRED S. HOFFMAN
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Defense Department said Tuesday "it is not believed in the national interest" to allow newsmen to travel to the Guantanamo naval base for on-the-spot reporting of the latest U.S.-Cuban crisis.

"We will continue to review the matter daily," the Pentagon said Tuesday.

But the Associated Press said it added in a statement "in view of the situation between the United States and Cuba, government-sponsored transport of newsmen to Guantanamo is not believed in the national interest at this particular time."

Officials declined to elaborate on why the U.S. government felt this way.

The position appeared to clash with the presence of a British reporter at the base.

The reporter, representing the London Daily Telegraph, flew area at the time and it was assigned to Guantanamo aboard a Navy plane last Thursday before Fidel Castro announced he was cutting off the base's fresh water supply.

The British reporter, Edwin Tellow, has been filing very little copy out of Guantanamo. Navy sources said, and is scheduled to be flown out of the base on the next plane Friday.

Although the Pentagon statement referred to government-sponsored travel, as a practical matter the ban is complete.

There is no way to get to the base, on Cuba's eastern tip, except by military or other government transportation.

The body was found shortly after 2 p.m. by a step-son who heard the explosion. Several fishing parties also heard the explosion but did not become alarmed because several jet planes were maneuvering in the area at the time and it was as-

Woman Dies In Rural Shawano Fire

Lived Alone at Lake Home; Police Seek Husband With News

SHAWANO — A fire of undetermined origin took the life of a 52-year-old rural Shawano woman this morning. Law enforcement authorities in three states are seeking her husband to notify him of the tragedy.

Dead is Mrs. Barbara Remington. Her husband, George, a salesman for J. P. Clark Association, a Dallas, Tex., engineering firm, is on the road and was expected to be in the Detroit area. The Shawano County sheriff contacted the Detroit detective bureau but had not yet been able to locate the man late this morning.

A motorist noted the fire at the Remington home on the northeast corner of Shawano Lake and called the sheriff's department about 1:30 a.m. this morning. When Sgt. Bill Seering called the Town of Wescott fire department it had already been ordered to refuel its atomic centrated on saving adjacent buildings.

Because the 1963 model car belonging to Mrs. Remington was at the home on Stark Road just east of the Catholic girls' camp, firemen suspected she might be in the ruins of the home.

When the fire cooled down, the body, which had been burned beyond recognition, was found in the living room of the home. Identification was based on the fact that the woman had lived alone in the home, her car had been in the garage and she had been seen in the nearby community of Cecil Monday.

A daughter, Diane, 19, a student at Oshkosh State College, was notified and shuttled home via the Winnebago sheriff's department. New London and Clintonville police departments and Shawano authorities. She is staying with the Fred Laehn family.

Hearing Scheduled On Code of Ethics

Proposal Meant to Eliminate Conflicts of Interest for State's Government Officials

MADISON (AP) — The State Personnel Board has scheduled a March 11 public hearing on a proposed code of ethics aimed at eliminating conflicts of interest in Wisconsin government. The board's action Tuesday came several months after Gov. John W. Reynolds recommended a statement of policy and 11 standards of conduct. The board refused to adopt the statement but it will be used as a basis for a proposed code.

With a March 11 hearing, the earliest any administrative rule could go into effect would be May 1.

Explanation For Ranger Failure Told

Equipment Designed To Work in Near Vacuum Only

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

RANGER: Electrical equipment in Ranger VI designed to operate only in the near vacuum of space may have started functioning before the spacecraft climbed out of the earth's atmosphere.

If that happened, the equipment would have been damaged by severe electrical arcing. This could explain the failure of Ranger VI to send back pictures of the moon.

James E. Webb, administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, told a news conference Tuesday that his investigators now suspect that cause.

SMOKING: The Commerce Department says domestic consumption of cigarettes is expected to go down in 1964 despite a rise in production.

A $1 million increase in tobacco production is expected to be more than offset by a $4 million increase in tobacco exports.

Secretary of Commerce Luther H. Hodges told his news conference Tuesday that the department is trying to avoid getting involved in the controversy over smoking in making its tobacco forecasts.

X-RAYS: The Public Health Service has launched a national study to determine to what extent Americans have been exposed to radiation from X-rays in medical examinations and treatments.

In announcing this Tuesday, Surgeon General Luther Terry said, "Many reports and articles have indicated that an important part of the total radiation to which the population is exposed may be accounted for by medical and dental X-rays. Beginning in April about 32,000 persons will be interviewed to learn how much and what kind of X-ray exposure they had in the previous three months."

Pupils Skeptical Of Boy's Story About Frog Rains in Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP)—Fifth-grader Terry White, a former Floridian, stirred up skepticism when he told his classmates at Folsombee, W.Va., that it sometimes rained frogs in Florida.

Today he had powerful support for his story. Florida's governor, Farris Bryant, agreed that sometimes it not only rains frogs but also tiny fish.

Terry wrote the governor "my room and teacher doesn't believe my story" about seeing it rain green frogs when he was 5. Bryant explained to Terry that the frogs were sometimes swept up into clouds by high winds, and fell back to earth later with the rain.

"I hope that your teacher will accept this verification of your story," Bryant said.

Dallas Children Send Valentine Greetings To Caroline Kennedy

DALLAS (AP)—First-graders at a private Dallas school have sent poignant Valentine wishes to Caroline Kennedy, 6-year-old daughter of President Kennedy who was assassinated in Dallas Nov. 22.

The 44 children attend St. Thomas Aquinas School. A lacy, four-foot-tall valentine was finished Tuesday, and a picture of it with the students was mailed to Caroline, along with hand-printed personal messages.

"Dear Caroline Kennedy," the valentine said. "We love you. Wish we could say this in person, but since we can't, have a happy Valentine's Day. Year first-grade friends."

In brief, simple letters, the children talked to Caroline. Georgeann Brady, 6, wrote: "I hope you are smart in first grade. I am sorry that your daddy got shot. I bet he is in heaven. He was a good man."

Roy E. Kubista, executive secretary of the Wisconsin State Employees Association, said he opposed board adoption of McCamy's statement of policy. Kubista, who represents the state's 17,500 civil service workers, said he would not oppose "a code of ethics, but we do oppose this one." He said he would reserve his objections to the proposed rules for the hearing.

Personal Attacks

GOP Chairman Says Party Has Candidates and Issues to Win

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican National Chairman William E. Miller predicted today the GOP has the organization, the candidates and the issues to win in November.

That doesn't mean I welcome it," he told the National Press Club. "I think the whole business is pretty sickening, and I wish we could campaign on issues which do not strike at the personal integrity of officials in high places."

Miller, in his prepared remarks, accused the White House of a clumsy effort to frustrate the Senate Rules Committee investigation of Baker, who resigned under heat as secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

Reynolds Impugned
Miller said information had been made available to several newsmen impugning the character of Don Reynolds, the insurance man who told the committee he gave then-Sen. Johnson a stereo set after selling a $100,000 insurance policy on his life.

The GOP chairman said there can be no doubt the dossiers "reportedly obtained from files in the possession of the Air Force, the State Department and the FBI" were leaked by persons "high in the present administration."

Strong Organization
In addition to the issues, Miller said, the party had a stronger organization than in 1960 and "we will have a candidate chosen from the long list of people any one of whom can run this government better than any known Democrat."

Among those on "the long list" —

Sen. Barry Goldwater opens his California campaign today.

Prime Minister Threatens Canada With the Beatles

TORONTO (AP) — Britain's Prime Minister Sir Alec Douglas-Home, who wants to redress Britain's trade balance with Canada, says he holds the whip hand in the situation.

He told the Empire Club Tuesday night: "If Britain needs to, I warn you, I shall send the Beatles."

The Beatles now are amassing dollars in the United States.

Statement Drafted
The statement and 11 rules were drafted in November by Prof. James L. McCamy at the request of Reynolds. The governor took the action after he ousted Roman Winkowski as commissioner of the State Savings and Loan Department for his stock dealings in a Milwaukee insurance company.

John H. Shields, personnel board chairman, said he would write an administrative rule encompassing McCamy's statement. "But what I write might bear a very faint resemblance to what we adopt," he added.

Roy E. Kubista, executive secretary of the Wisconsin State Employees Association, said he opposed board adoption of McCamy's statement of policy. Kubista, who represents the state's 17,500 civil service workers, said he would not oppose "a code of ethics, but we do oppose this one." He said he would reserve his objections to the proposed rules for the hearing.

Proposed Rules
As proposed by McCamy, the rules would cover both civil service and appointive state officials. Any rules adopted by the board would not cover elected officials.

Among the rules drafted by McCamy and approved by the governor:
No employee could own any kind of property whose value could clearly be affected by decisions of the agency in which the employee works.
Employees would have to submit to the board lists of property or debts considered inappropriate to hold or own.
An employee must report any wages or fees for service outside his state work.

Hotel Executive A. M. Sonnabend Is Dead at 67
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—Abraham M. Sonnabend, a Boston industrialist who started out with $5,000 and ended up board chairman of the Hotel Corporation of America died Tuesday after a heart attack. He was 67.

Sonnabend, who was an officer or director of half a dozen large companies in many fields, entered Good Samaritan Hospital Saturday.

He also was a member of many nationwide civic groups. He was president of the American Jewish Committee and a director of American Child Guidance Foundation.

His Austrian-born father gave him $5,000 after he graduated from Harvard and Sonnabend started off in the real estate business. In the 40s he moved into the hotel field and recently had begun acquiring relatively insolvent firms and putting them on a paying basis.

Hotel Corporation of America operates hotels in Boston, New York City, Washington, D.C., New Orleans, London, Bermuda, and Houston and Hartford, Conn. and other cities.

Sonnabend is survived by his widow, the former Esther Lewitt; three sons, Robert P., president of the Hotel Corporation of America, Paul, vice president of the hotel division of the corporation, and Stephen, general manager of the Kenmore Hotel, Boston; a brother, Leopold M., of Boston, and a sister, Mrs. Lillian Goldringer of Brookline.

First Grade Students at St. Thomas Aquinas School in Dallas hold the giant Valentine they prepared for Caroline Kennedy. The four-foot tall card is too large to go in the mail so a picture of the greeting and a letter from each of the students will be mailed to the daughter of the late President Kennedy. Sister Rosaline, the class teacher, said the children wanted to do something at Christmas to express their feelings, but thought it best to wait and came up with the idea for the giant greeting. ## Governor's Wife Posts Bond for Sister on Leaving Scene Charge

MADISON (AP)—Mrs. John W. Reynolds, the wife of Wisconsin's governor, posted $28,000 bond in Traffic Court Monday for her sister, Mrs. Margaret Card of Madison, on a charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Mrs. Card was given a ticket by police on Feb. 1 after her car was involved in an accident. There were no injuries.

A charge of driving without a license was dismissed by Judge William Buenzli after Mrs. Card produced her license.

The judge also deferred sentence on payment of $5 court costs on a charge of driving an unregistered car.

Reynolds' Aides Seek Support for Governor's Highway Building Plan

Roads Association Urges Rejection in Referendum

Gov. John W. Reynolds and his aides hit the road Tuesday to plug for support for the Democratic chief executive's highway building program.

But at the same time, the Wisconsin Highway Users conference approved a resolution urging voter rejection in the April 7 balloting of a referendum on a gasoline tax increase to finance bonding for accelerated highway construction.

At the highway users conference in Madison, Fred Elliott, conference secretary and head of the Wisconsin Petroleum Council, said the State Highway Department can expect $483 million for highway construction in the next four years. He said this compared with $390 million in the past four years "which included the greatest highway construction program in Wisconsin's history."

Reynolds Says
Reynolds told a Democratic luncheon at Stevens Point that if the April 7 referendum is rejected it may be a long time before officials seek an expanded freeway project.

The governor said it was easy for politicians to say they agreed to skip the cost of such a building program to the tourists, "but the fact is this is not easy to plan to run a favorite son nation. The bulk of the expense will have to be borne by the people who live and work in Wisconsin."

David Adamany, recently named by Reynolds to the Public Service Commission, told a Milwaukee Junction meeting the referendum question, written by Republicans controlling the Legislature, had been "deliberately miswritten" to call attention to the "small one-cent tax increase while hiding savings of over $100 million."

Early Purchase
He said the savings would result from the early purchase of necessary land and a reduction in highway accidents.

Leonard Zubrensky, the governor's legal counsel, said at a two-day aides hit the road Tuesday to plug for support for the Democratic chief executive's highway building program.

Let's EXPLORE YOUR MIND
By Sylvanus M. Duvall, Ph.D. and Evelyn M. Duvall, Ph.D.

A WIFE WHO MUST PINCH PENNIES DOESN'T FEEL LOVED! TRUE OR FALSE?

False. Most women do not mind stretching the family dollar just as far as it will go. As long as a wife feels that her man is dependable and responsible, she is usually satisfied with what he earns. A man does not need to smother his wife with expensive gifts and a lavish allowance in order to show his love for her. All that most women normally want is to feel that their men care for them not handsomely but wholeheartedly.

Were the Nazis men of faith?
Yes. No. Yes. First, they believed completely in their leader, Hitler, and in his promises. They also had a profound faith in their techniques, especially propaganda and blitzkrieg. At first there seemed to be some basis for their faith. Hitler promised them Germany, and they won it. He promised them Austria, Czechoslovakia and other territories, and, in each case, delivered.

Are most families "planned"?
Yes. No. No. Only about a fifth of either first or second pregnancies are even partly "planned." A study of married students showed that even among this highly sophisticated group, two-thirds of their babies were not planned.

Castro's Water Shut-Off Hurts Cuban Economy More Than U.S.

BY CHARLES HOUSE
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

The puppy-dog yapping at the heels of the United States forces occupying Cuba's Guantanamo Bay is — and may become — far more difficult for Fidel Castro than it is and will be for the United States.

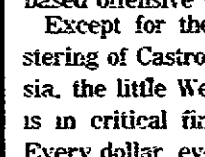

Last week in another gesture of spite, Fidel Castro cut off the Cuban-based water supply to Guantanamo Bay. The blow to the U.S. is insignificant. But the cutting off of the water supply is a tremendous blow to the people of Cuba and it will be felt economically by every citizen. Were it not for the financial backing of Russia, the curtailing of water could be a vital blow against Castro's own people.

This fact I observed during a visit to Cuba House in 1962 on the heels of President Kennedy's naval blockade and demand for a Russian pull-out of its Cuba-based offensive weapons.

Except for the economic bolstering of Castro's Cuba by Russia, the little West Indies island is in critical financial position. Every dollar, every peso, is desperately needed. And when Castro cut off the water supply, he also cut off an annual income of $168,000 per year, the price the U.S. pays the Castro government for the water.

Cuba can use $168,000. Its commerce is down almost frighteningly, for—prior to its link-up with Russia, a full 70 per cent of its foreign trade was with the United States.

Tourism, once a prime source of income for the West Indies island, is now down to almost nothing.

Today some 3,000 peons work as civilian employees of the naval base. These 3,000 jobs take many of Cuba's peons off the dole and the public conscience. The wage of the average Cuban working at the naval base is about $6. Other employees, of course, earn more.

In totals, the U.S. government pays a total of $65 million into Cuba's coffers per year. A major curtailment of this amount would be disastrous to Cuba's economy. Cutting off the water supply alone will cost $14,000 per month.

Just a Pretense

Castro has pretended that he would like to have the U.S. give up Guantanamo Bay. It is unpatently ridiculous—Cuba's 3,000 citizens would be jobless. Worse than that, one of Castro's fantastic thefts would be if this were to happen. A man-ullified. He literally takes from the 3,000 employees a full 90 per cent of their salaries. The

Profits From Wages

If the U.S. were to give up the naval base at Guantanamo Bay — an assumption which is patently ridiculous—Cuba's 3,000 citizens would be jobless. Worse than that, one of Castro's fantastic thefts would be if this were to happen. A man-ullified. He literally takes from the 3,000 employees a full 90 per cent of their salaries. The money thus obtained goes into the coffers of the Castro government.

Here is how Castro has worked his thefts:

All Cuban employees leave Guantanamo each evening after their day's work. They are checked out through two gates—one American, the other Cuban.

Checked at 'Chute'

After they are checked by the double set of guards at the gates, they enter a long corridor which is fenced on both sides. Escape over the fences is not possible. The corridor, locally termed "the chute", runs past a Cuban counting house at the far end.

On paydays, the employees are halted at the counting house. Here the American dollars are taken from them and, in exchange, they are given pesos. But the exchange is ridiculously inequitable.

A peso, which Castro has devalued, is valued at 10 cents. The counting house gives the employees one peso for one dollar. Thus the Castro government obtains a full 90 per cent of the employees' wages.

Good for Castro

For Castro it is a good system. For the employees it is a bad system. For the United States, it is a means of keeping some area of tranquility whether the method is good or bad.

During my November visit to Cuba, I discussed the naval base, of here was scheduled to get with Rear Adm. Edward J. O'Donnell. He pronounced Guantaname Bay "the most efficient place in the world for aircraft and ships. Even the weather helps. The last time there was a threat of bad weather here was in 1928."

The agreement between Cuba and the United States which concerned our lease of Guantanamo Bay was signed in 1902. In 1934, an additional treaty was worked out. It specified that the U.S. should pay Cuba annually the sum of $2,000 as long as it would occupy the area agreed upon. In later years the lease was raised to $3,700.

Move Anticipated

But the fact is that his move was anticipated. In 1962, during the time of the so-called "Cuban crisis" a 6,800 ton tanker laden with potable water was standing by in Guantanamo Bay. Also at anchor on the bay was a barge which can convert sea water to fresh water by an evaporation process. However, the barge cannot supply more than half of the water — about 500,000 gallons is needed daily at the naval base. More fresh water is to be hauled in from Port Everglades, Fla., at a much greater cost.

But it appears that through Castro's move in cutting off the base's water supply, he also "cut off his nose," as the saying goes, "to spite his face." The dramatic gesture costs his poverty-stricken island, $14,000 each month and $168,000 each year.

Railroad Workers Terrorized by Topsy Elephants

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP)—Drunken elephants are terrorizing railroad workers based at a small station in South Africa's Kruger National Park, a large game reserve.

At this time of year some elephants get drunk after eating fermented berries which have dropped from the Maroela trees growing in the park. Like some humans on a bender, some pickled pachyderms become extremely aggressive and unpredictable.

One worker was returning from a party with friends when a drunken bull elephant tossed him off his bicycle and stamped the machine into the ground. The African suffered two broken ribs and cuts on his face, but escaped.

Another worker was sitting on his veranda when he heard a crack in the backyard.

"An old outcast bull elephant we call 'Patrolman' was tearing some fruit trees apart," he said. Suddenly the wind changed and he came for me. I shut the kitchen door just in time.

"He ran around the cottage for about five minutes, trumpeting and flapping his ears, drunk as can be. Then he stormed off into the bush."

ber Co., Akron, Ohio, expects to conduct tests at the lake for about two weeks. Last year, the firm conducted tests on an area of the Pigeon River west of Clintonville.

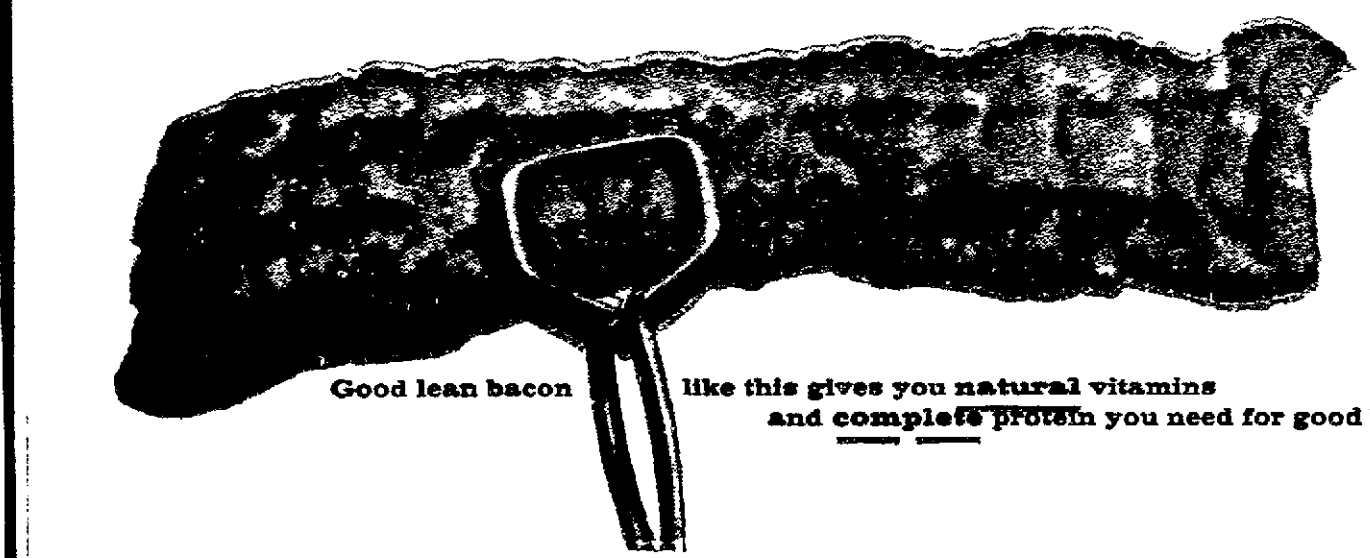

The Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co. are doing the testing.

Xavier Ends Loop Slate With 2 Tilts

Hawks Face Pennings Thursday, Battle Marinette Saturday Night

VALLEY CATHOLIC CONFERENCE campaign as teams prepare for tournament action.

Xavier kicks off the action Thursday night by entertaining Abbot of Pennings of DePere. Friday night will have Little Chute St. John at St. Mary Springs of Fond du Lac and St. Mary Menasha will be at Oshkosh Lourdes.

Three Saturday games are on tap Saturday night with the feature attraction being second place Marinette Central at Xavier, Springs will be at St. Mary Menasha and St. John travels to Pennings. Winding up the schedule will be Lourdes at Premontré on Sunday.

The Marinette-Xavier return engagement is the most anticipated clash of the seven. Two teams met early in the season and Xavier had to come from behind in the second half to pull out a win in a slow-down contest, 56-41. In that game, Marinette held Xavier to two points in the first period and nine in the second. The Hawks picked up steam and outscored the Cavaliers 24-3 in the third stanza to win going away.

The Xavier foe for Thursday night, Abbot Pennings, ranks in a fifth place tie with St. John's. Top scorer for the Squires is Joe Wheeler who is averaging 14.3 per game for 12 tilts.

Xavier had little trouble disposing of Pennings in the first meeting between the two clubs and the Hawks will be heavy favorites to roll up their 44th consecutive cage win and their 13th straight this season in the conference.

Potent Scorers Saturday night Coach Marty Crowe, one who always springs something of the unexpected variety on his opponents, will bring a pair of potent scorers as well as a veteran-laden quintet to the Xavier gym. The Cavaliers have no other game this week so they will have the entire time to concentrate on Crowe's plans for the Hawks.

Heading the Cavalier scoring contingent is Jan Roland and 86, setback at the hands of Sam Komp. Roland has 253 points in 13 games and has a 19.5 average in the conference. Second only to Bruce Hammen of St. John's, Komp has an average of 15.2 to rank sixth. This gives Marinette the best one-two punch in the league.

Hammen of St. John took over the league lead this week by a slim margin of .3 of a point. Hammen is averaging 19.8 to Roland's 19.5. Bob DeBruin of DePaul will play tonight without its leading scorer, 6-foot-1 Emmette Bryant, who is sidelined with a bad ankle. He scored 17 points in the first game with Marquette.

Hickey didn't feel the absence of Bryant would hurt De Paul. "I saw them play without him against Notre Dame and they beat the devil out of them," Hickey said. De Paul won 90-75.

De Paul will start with 6-foot-10 Dave Miller, Don Swanson, Jesse Nash, Dennis Freund and Jim Murphy.

Marquette '5' Faces DePaul; Hickey Anxious

Warrior Mentor Is Considering Lineup Changes

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Marquette basketball Coach Ed Hickey is so anxious to break the Warriors' seven-game losing streak that he had considered using a couple of junior varsity players in tonight's game with De Paul.

He said that Bronson Haase and Pat Dowd had had "some moments of fine play" against the freshmen. "Earlier this week, we were thinking possibly in terms of a starting backcourt role for these two boys but the plan hasn't exactly jelled."

Hickey said his starting lineup against the tenth ranked Blue Demons probably would be his standbys of Tom Flynn, John Stone, Willie Kingsley, Joe Mimitz and Jim Poulsen.

One of the Warriors' 13 defeats, against four victories, was a 90-69 loss earlier in the season to De Paul, which has a 14-2 record.

De Paul will play tonight without its leading scorer, 6-foot-1 Emmette Bryant, who is sidelined with a bad ankle. He scored 17 points in the first game with Marquette.

Hickey didn't feel the absence of Bryant would hurt De Paul. "I saw them play without him against Notre Dame and they beat the devil out of them," Hickey said. De Paul won 90-75.

Tuesday Night Big Ten Tilts Win Approval

MADISON (AP) — Coaches John Erickson of Wisconsin and Larry Glass of Northwestern said Tuesday they hope the Big Ten will expand scheduling of basketball games on Tuesday nights.

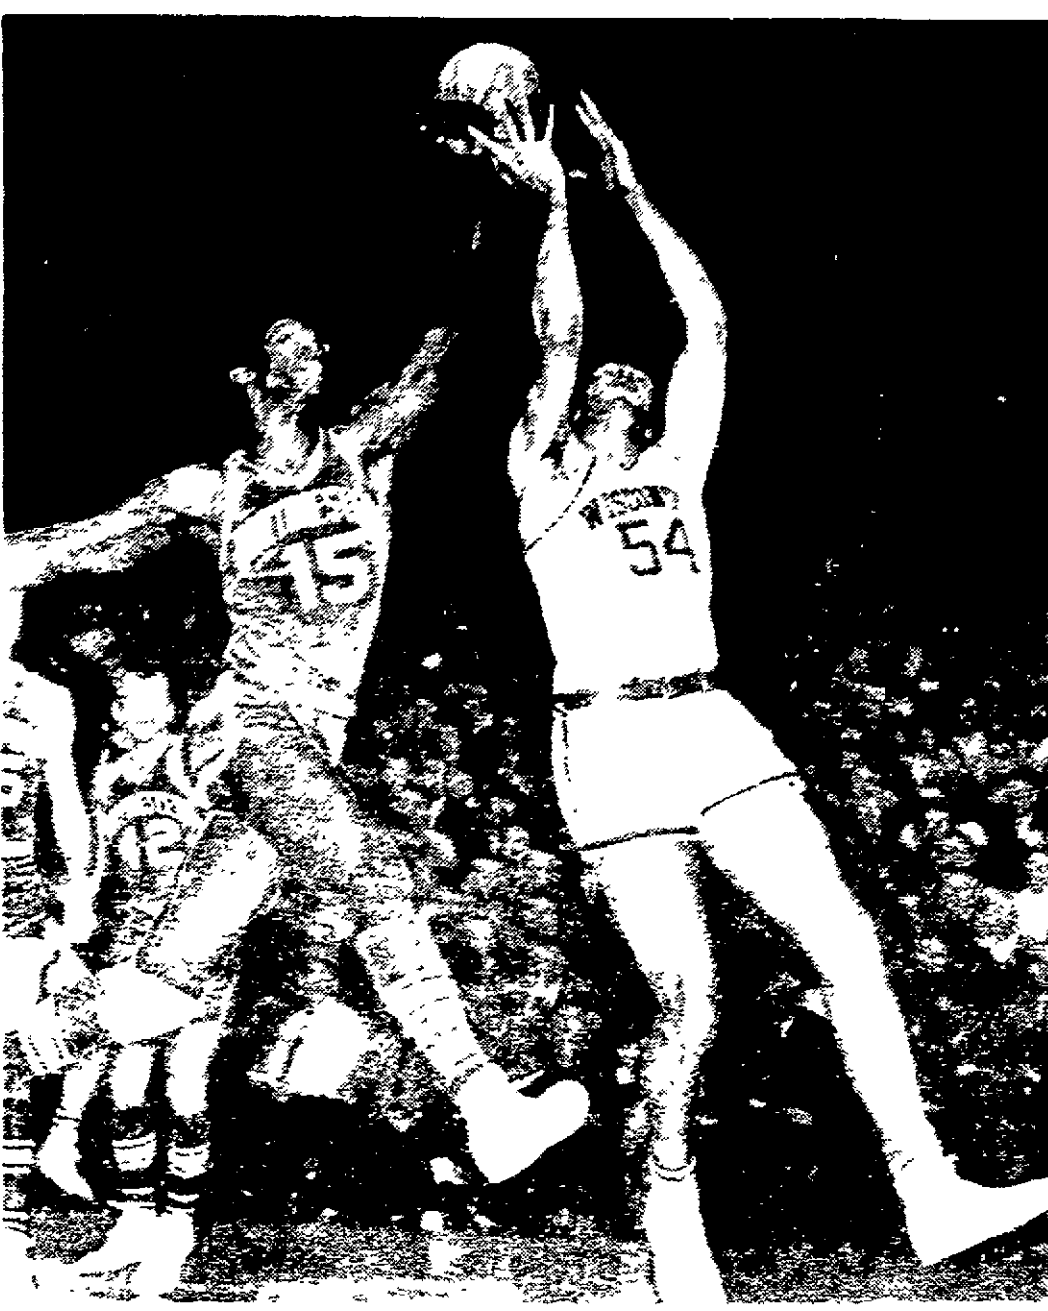

Erickson and Glass told sports writers and sportscasters they approved the conference experiment of scheduling four games on Tuesday nights this season. The Badgers and Northwestern met at the UW Fieldhouse Thursday night.

Erickson said that players do not miss any more class work because of Tuesday games and in some schools they miss less. "I know that at Wisconsin Tuesday class schedules are lighter than any other day in the week," Erickson said.

Glass said the Tuesday date had allowed him to rest his squad Sunday and break the "often difficult grind called for to make the Saturday and Monday dates."

Wildcats Hand Badgers 72-64 Big Ten Setback

Wisconsin Experiences Poor Shooting Night Against NU

MADISON (AP) — Wisconsin's Northwestern scoring ace Rick LaPosa Tuesday night, but Rich Falk took charge and led the Wildcats to a 72-64 victory in a rugged, foul-filled Big Ten basketball meeting.

The officials' whistles got a good workout. Northwestern picked up 18 personal fouls and Wisconsin 21. The Wildcats cashed 20 of 34 free throws, the Badgers 14 of 23.

Northwestern jumped off to a 5-0 lead before Wisconsin got on the scoreboard after 2:15 of play. A few minutes later, the Badgers managed to pull in front 10-9 for their only lead of the game. Jim Pitts tied the score with a free throw and Falk then put his mates in front to stay.

The Wildcats led 35-29 at half-time and were in command the rest of the way.

Marty Riessen contributed 14 points as Northwestern boosted its record to 5-3 in the Big Ten and 7-8 over-all.

Guard Dave Grams topped the Wisconsin scorers with 16 points, while Dave Roberts added 14 and Jack Brens 8. The defeat left the Badgers with a 2-5 conference record and 8-9 against all opponents.

Lourdes Quint Wins, 70-56, Over Pacelli

STEVENS POINT — Oshkosh Lourdes avenged an earlier, 93-86, setback at the hands of Stevens Point Pacelli by turning in 13 games and has a 19.5 average in the conference. Second only to Bruce Hammen of St. John's, Komp has an average of 15.2 to rank sixth. This gives Marinette the best one-two punch in the league.

Hammen of St. John took over the league lead this week by a slim margin of .3 of a point. Hammen is averaging 19.8 to Roland's 19.5. # Next Heavyweight Champion

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Cassius Clay has always been talkative, has always loved attention and will be the next heavyweight boxing champion.

His mother, Mrs. Odessa Clay of Louisville, Ky., said all this and more in a telephone interview Tuesday with Ray Grody, boxing writer for the Milwaukee Sentinel.

Mrs. Clay also said she plans to be in Miami Beach, Fla., on Feb. 25 when Cassius challenges Sonny Liston for the title. Explaining she has seen most of her son's fights, she said, "I wouldn't miss this one for anything."

And, she said, "Cassius is a very serious young man, when he wants to be... and he has nothing but the highest respect for Mr. Liston."

Asked if the 22-year-old Cassius had always been a talker, Mrs. Clay said "he knows the value of publicity," and added "He talked from the time he could make a sound I recall that when he started boxing at the age of 12 he told all the neighborhood kids that some day he would win the Olympic championship and then go on to the world's title. Of course, the kids all laughed at him. But that never stopped him from talking about it. He loved attention and usually did things to attract it — just as he is doing now."

Most Exciting "These are absolutely the most exciting days of my life," Mrs. Clay said. "It's almost impossible to believe that my boy has gone so far in the sport he's loved."

Mrs. Clay said her son's progress has meant changes for her. "The telephone calls became, happy,"

Black Hawks Sell Young to Los Angeles Club

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Black Hawks wrote an end to their chapter in the Howie Young saga Tuesday night when they sold hockey's "Bad Boy" to the Los Angeles Blades of the Western Hockey League for cash and players to be named later.

Attempts to reform Young, obtained from Detroit last summer for goalie Roger Crozier, failed to such a point that when the Hawks asked waivers on him if he can. He bought us a Young two weeks ago no team in the National Hockey League would put up $20,000 for the 26-year-old defenseman.

The Hawks refused to announce the amount of cash involved or the number of players in the deal. However, Young apparently agreed to go back to the minor leagues or the deal never would have been made.

The pedestal - riding Menasha Bluejays, high atop the Mid-Eastern loop with a 10-0 slate, will seek to make it 11 consecutive league victories when the Kaukauna Ghosts invade the Jay domicile in one of the M-E's feature attractions Friday night.

Kimberly, runnerup to the Jays, may be hard-pressed baseball people are working on a plan, still in the tentative televisioning regionally in 1963 after the third-place Shawano Indians take to the Paper-maker court in the other top nation. There are reports that pro football might be fed to the same network along with basketball, and hockey.

The American Broadcasting Co. said Tuesday it will carry five National Football League games on Friday nights between Sept. 25 and Oct. 23. A spokesman, who declined to use of his name, wouldn't make it official but added: "It is true."

Other games pit Neeenah at New London and Clintonville at Two Rivers.

Coach Clem Massey's Menasha, ranked fourth on the latest WIAA poll, tripped the Ghosts, 67-61, on the Kaukauna floor Dec. 20. All five starters hit double figures for the Jays, with Mark Pawlowski leading the way with 17.

Comeback Track Kaukauna, temporarily derailed from the comeback track after a poor start early in the season, dropped a 68-61 tilt to Shawano Friday and will be out to halt the Bluejay string.

The well - balanced loop leaders are stingy on defense, allowing just under 40 points per outing. Offensively, the Jays boast an equally - divided point-producing crew, signified by the fact that only two members of the squad, Mark Pawlowski (with 137) and Don Steffin (with 133), are among the top 15 scorers. Both are far down the list.

Gary Weigman leads Coach Ken Vander Velden's Ghosts with 144 markers in loop action.

The rangy Papermakers found the going quite tough in its last encounter with the Indians from Shawano. Kimberly eked out a 44-43 overtime decision on the wings of a brace of free tosses by Jerry Wyngaard with 57 seconds to play in the extra period.

Coach Gene Mason's quint is led by Lee Levknecht, the loop's most efficient pointmaker. Levknecht is hitting at 22.3 per cent and leads his closest challenger by 38 tallies. Other key men in Mason's attack are Gordon Zillges, 6-7 center, Jim VandenBoogaard, John Reider and Dennis Kroner.

Four night games were televised regionally in 1963 after the being held out of the CBS package.

Reedsville '5' Takes Lead in Little Nine by Downing Denmark

Hilbert Remains In contention With 68-45 Win

LITTLE NINE CONFERENCE
	W	L
Reedsville	9	1
Denmark	7	3
Hilbert	7	3
Wausaukee	4	3
Hortonville	4	4

Tuesday Night's Results:
Reedsville 44, Denmark 42.
Hortonville 48, Wausaukee 42.
Hilbert 48, Reedsville 25.
Hilbert 48, Oromo 45.

Reedsville grabbed the Little Nine conference lead Tuesday night by defeating Denmark 64-48 in the first of several showdown games.

The win gave Reedsville a 9-1 and a one-half game lead over Denmark and Hilbert, each with 9-2 marks. Hilbert scored a 68-45 victory over Oromo.

Wausaukee overhauled Hortonville 66-26 by holding the Polar Bears to one field goal in the first half. The win kept slim title hopes alive for the Wolves, who now have an 8-3 record.

In the other games, Shiocton clipped Bear Creek 73-69 in a battle to avoid last place while Freedom counted its fourth win by overwhelming Wrightstown, 63-48.

Playing without their chief rebounder and scorer, Leon Rasmussen, Denmark made a game of it through the first quarter. The Danes actually led 11-10, after eight minutes. But then a three-pronged Reedsville attack started to pay off.

Five straight baskets in the second period by the winners gave them a lead which they never relinquished. Due mainly to the scoring of the league's leading scorer Gene Klahn, Reedsville had a 30-18 lead at halftime.

Denmark put on a mild rally in the third period and narrowed the margin to nine points, 45-36, by the end of the third period.

Klahn led all scorers with 23 points, but he had help from the seven basket scorers of Nohr and Krueger. Al Valentine, Dick Hanson and Jim Schieles all hit the double figures for Denmark.

Reedsville made 42 per cent of its shots in the first half and 50 per cent in the second half. Denmark could count only 25 per cent in the first half, but came back with a 40 per cent effort in the second half.

Hilbert jumped off to an early lead and was never headed against Oromo. Four players scored in the double figures for the winners with Schaefer leading the way with 20 points. Thiel added 16, Federwitz had 15 and Borneman scored 12. Mike Engstrom topped Oromo with 14 points.

Hortonville did everything wrong and Wausaukee everything right in a game which saw the Polar Bears try a stall and then a press. But it was 1-1 at the quarter and 25-7 at halftime. The Wolves had a 41-15 lead after three periods. Wausaukee scored 27 points in the fourth period, more than Hortonville did in the entire game.

Use 12 Players
Wausaukee, who outbounced the visitors 48-16, used 12 players. Four players, Tom and Jim Nickel, Dave Baifinger and Ken Wiesner, all hit the double figures. Keith Schroeder's five points was high for Hortonville.

Bear Creek never overcame a 19-7 first period deficit although they fought back to tie in the third quarter. But Shiocton regained the momentum and carried a 58-55 lead to the final quarter. It hovered around this six-point spread the rest of the way.

Glen Bowers' 26 point outburst helped Freedom to an easy win over Wrightstown. The Irish 16-9 first period lead was widened to 39-25 at halftime and 51-32 after three periods.

Roger Hendricks, the Tiger's fine rebounder and scorer counted 21 points Tuesday, almost half of the Wrightstown total.

McDermott Welcomed by More Than 50,000 Upon Arrival Home

ESSEXVILLE, Mich. (AP) — Terry McDermott came home to a tumultuous welcome by more than 50,000 persons Tuesday and told how he won America's only gold medal at the Winter Olympics.

At Tri-Cities Airport where he was greeted by 4,000 persons, McDermott — referring back to his seventh-place finish in 1960 Olympics skating — quipped, "I was four years older and eight-tenths of a second faster."

"Besides, I had a good race at Innsbruck. Everything is determined on fractions of seconds. Nothing can go wrong." The 23-year-old skating speedster led a 500-meter speedskating event at Innsbruck, Austria, a week ago. He returned with his wife, Virginia, from New York where the couple had been honeymooning. They have been married four months.

McDermott led a 200-car motorcade past 50,000 cheering and waving citizens through Bay City and into his hometown Essexville, a small east-central Michigan community.

On Burns Street where the McDermotts live in a small frame home, every house bore a huge sign: "Welcome back, Terry, we're proud of you."

It was Terry McDermott IV officially proclaimed by Gov. George W. Romney, who met the McDermotts at the airport and rode with them in the lead car in the parade. Three high school bands sounded Michigan's delight at the return of the skating champion.

The parade paused briefly in Bay City in front of a barber shop owned by Terry's uncle, Bunny Hebert, and to which

McDermott expects to return Thursday "to start making a living again."

Indicating concern for American performances in the Winter Olympics, McDermott said, "We have to make progress on all competitive fronts."

"Whether it's speed skating, figure skating, skiing or anything else, we need better facilities, tougher competition and all-around help."

McDermott said he was more mature, stronger and had a better skating form at Innsbruck than during the first Olympic test.

Almost four hours of continuous welcomes came to a close at the McDermott home on Burns Street where neighborhood children had lined each tree with yellow crepe paper.

McDermott was asked if he had received any offers to turn professional. He said he had received a few.

Asked if he had considered any of the offers, he answered, "I'd have to see how much it was worth to me."

Indications are that he will not turn professional. He said he would defend his title in 1968 and intends to train for the meet then in much the same way he did for this year's Games.

Van Brocklin Refuses Eagles Coaching Offer

Owner Wolman Turns Sights Elsewhere Now

ST. PAUL — MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Jerry Wolman, the wealthy young owner of the Philadelphia Eagles turned his search for a head coach elsewhere today after having the door abruptly closed in his face by Minnesota Vikings' Coach Norm Van Brocklin.

Wolman sought to lure Van Brocklin away from the Vikings with an offer to make him coach and general manager of the Eagles at an annual salary in the $50,000 range.

Van Brocklin, who has coached the Vikings since their entry into the National Football League four years ago, said Tuesday he decided against even talking person-to-person with Wolman because:

1. He had a "moral obligation" to the Vikings in the form of a contract which has three years to run. The pact was extended last summer.

2. He had others to consider. "When I make a decision," he said, "I have to make it for six people — myself and my assistants and their families."

His five assistants had all pledged to go with him if the Dufelman elected to move to Philadelphia.

3. "We're going to be in a fair fight next year for the first time in four years." The Vikings had a 5-8-1 record last fall, finishing in a tie for fourth in the Western Division with the Detroit Lions. Van Brocklin obviously feels his club is ready to challenge in 1964.

Van Brocklin met with Vikings' President E. W. (Bill) Boyer and directors H. P. Skoglund and B. H. Ridder for some five hours Tuesday afternoon.

May Testify in Plan for Landing of Annexation at
Kidnaping Case Troops on Cyprus Fond du Lac

Confer With Makarios as New Clashes Break Out

BY HAL MCCLURE
NICOSIA, Cyprus (AP) — Undersecretary of State George Ball and British envoy Cyril Fickard called on President Makarios today to present the latest U.S.-British plan to land an international peace keeping force on Cyprus.

Nicosia rumbled with threats of a new flareup of Greek Cypriot violence. Two bomb explosions at the U.S. Embassy last week sent women and children of American personnel fleeing from the Mediterranean island.

MADISON (AP)—The Wisconsin Supreme Court declared void today a 1961 Fond du Lac annexation ordinance which added 167 acres to the city including property of the Kieckhafer Corp. and International Paper Co.

BLOOMER, Wis. (AP) —A flash fire caused by an exploding oil space heater raced through a Chippewa County farm home Tuesday, killing three small children and burning their mother and two other children.

The victims were identified as Susan and Jeffrey Marx, 6-year-old twins, and their brother Calvin, 5.

Their mother, Mrs. Doris Marx, 30, and two other children, Merten, 2, and daughter Terri, 1, were rushed to a Bloomer hospital by a neighbor. They were reported in critical condition early today.

Heater Blows Up

Bloomer Fire Chief Raymond Klukas said an oil space heater in the living room blew up and the fire engulfed the home in minutes. He said by the time fire fighters arrived the home was half gone.

The neighbor, Philip Peil, 33, said he saw the farm house "burning like a ball of fire" and Mrs. Marx outside with her two younger children. Peil said that the woman's hair and clothing were aflame. The children's clothing also was burning.

Peil extinguished the flame and drove the three to the hospital.

Phones Disrupted
Relatives said that Calvin attended kindergarten in the morning and returned home at noon. The other school age children were home with chickens.

The fire disrupted telephone service in the area. Authorities were investigating the blaze today.

Mrs. Marx' husband, Bernard, was at work as a machinist in Bloomer. Their farm house is about three miles northeast of Bloomer. The family moved here from Eau Claire last year.

Senator Gives Views on Various Issues in Interview in Appleton

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY
 more weeks of debate in the Senate. He said senate leaders hope to cut off debate with a two-thirds majority vote. He would not predict the outcome. Proxmire said he thought the Southern bloc would be able to force a modified bill. "President Johnson is showing determination and leadership to obtain the strongest bill possible," Proxmire said.

The senator, who will complete eight years in the senate in August, gave his views on a battery of questions on:

President Johnson — "The President is representing all of the country and is working harder than ever before, but is the kind of man used to a fast pace. He has been in close contact with members of congress."

Bobby Baker — "The investigation is still going on and I've been following it in newspaper reports. I've seen nothing to reflect on Lyndon Johnson."

State politics — He considers Republican Wilbur Renk his leading opponent. Gov. Reynolds is likely to seek re-election. "The inter-party fights by the Democrats is healthy and will not affect the party's chances at election time."

National politics — President Johnson will get the Democratic nomination on the first ballot. Sen. Hubert Humphrey, R-Sargent Shriver and Robert Kennedy appear to be leading prospects for the vice-presidential nomination.

Primary Elections — Primary elections — Proxmire criticized Wisconsin GOP "favorite son" strategy. "It is unfortunate the people of Wisconsin will be denied a right to select a presidential nominee. He favors national legislation to have a primary in every state on the same date."

Ice Age Park — "I haven't had a chance to study the bill, but I think the park is a fine thing."

Other observations — He endorses the President's "war on poverty," spending should be kept down, but more money should be pumped into vocational education; farm legislation he has authored would cut down surplus milk production in eastern markets; the U. S. wheat deal with Russia was "a serious blunder and should be reconsidered;" DeGaulle "couldn't be more wrong in recognizing Red China."

 MANAWA—The Rev. Thomas Going, missionary from Japan, will present a colored slide lecture to the congregation of St. Paul Lutheran Church at 8 p.m. Tuesday in the church.

The Rev. Mr. Going is a native of Fremont. He is the son of the late Rev. and Mrs. Louis Going, who was a pioneer in the tax bill as it pertains to utilities. ## New Science Program Told to Waupaca Board of Education

Plan to Require Freshmen to Take Biology, Instead of Survey Course

WAUPACA — A new science for six weeks during the summer program, requiring freshmen to take biology instead of general science, was explained to the board of education Tuesday night.

Clarence Riddle, high school principal, explained general science will be taught in the seventh and eighth grades starting next year. On the high school level, students of both the freshman and sophomore class will be taking biology. The objection to operating a school new science program will be carried throughout four years of high school. After next year Jan. 24 when busses went out, sophomores will be offered chemistry, which is now a junior subject, and the junior and senior classes will be offered advanced science courses.

The new system will keep the Waupaca science department abreast of the rapidly advancing high school science programs of the nation, Riddle said.

General Science
 For the slower student who will not be able to qualify for biology, one class of general science still will be offered for high school freshmen.

The change will call for a shift in school equipment. The present high school science 17. At the present time Mrs. Fontstad is president of the grade school and new biology equipment will be installed in the high school.

Resignation Accepted
 The resignation of Mrs. Ramona Metz was accepted by the board. Mrs. Metz was employed as a reading teacher in the grade school office.

County Clerks Meet at Chilton
 CHILTON — County clerks from Region Three met at Chilton Monday to discuss mutual problems.

The agenda included new election laws, conservation laws, distribution of conservation licenses and problems with social security which face some of the clerks.

Attending were clerks from eight of the 12 counties included in the region. Counties represented were Brown, Calumet, Door, Menominee, Oconto, Outagamie, Shawano and Sheboygan.

Manitowoc and Kewaunee counties were not represented at the annual event due to the meetings of the county boards in those counties. Winnebago and Marinette counties did not attend the meeting.

Contracts totaling $174,213 for the construction of fixed base operations hangar for the new Outagamie County Airport were awarded by the county board Tuesday morning.

Post-Crescent Stories On Regional Airport Dispute Criticized

County Board Supervisors Differ on Review of Issues

BY DICK LYNEIS
 Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Appleton Post-Crescent cover- age of the Outagamie-Winne- bago county regional airport dispute came under attack Tuesday morning at the Outa- gamie County Board meeting.

Supvs. Eugene Kloes (Apple- ton 4th), Mark Catlin (Appleton 7th) and Paul Koska (Little Chute), criticized the Post-Cres- cent for reporting efforts made by Winnebago and Outagamie sources to bring the counties to- gether on a joint regional port.

"The Appleton Post-Crescent and other pressure groups," Kloes charged, "editorially urged us one week to go ahead and build our airport, then a few weeks later they told us to re- consider and talk to Winnebago County about a joint airport."

"Only Out $100,000"

"We've been pouring money for earth moving and land ac- quisition and they (the Post-Crescent) told us if we recon- sidered, we'd only be out $100,000."

Supv. Clarence Miller (Apple- ton 8th) said, "Kloes, don't you know that Winnebago County has been crying on the Post-Crescent's shoulder?"

"They (Winnebago County) want a little sympathy because of their position, and now you come in here quibbling over a few cents in estimates. The people in Appleton and Outagamie County should back us in our airport and not quibble. Why don't you pick on the Winne- bago County Board that has been so misheaded from the start. They're the ones who have ruined all the hopes for a joint airport."

Miller Shouts
 "If that's the kind of guy you are, you should join the Winne- bago County Board," Miller shouted at Kloes.

Catlin said Outagamie County is questions we all want the has stood ready to hold talks answers to, I'd like these an- swers myself."

Supv. Al Fischer (Appleton 1960) said the "Post-Crescent the airport is concerned," Cat- has the duty and obligation of lin said "is dominated by Drex- reporting everything concerning the airport and giving Outaga- ler (Chairman Joseph Drexler of Oshkosh) and Steinhilber mie County's side of the ques- (Supv. The new resolution is slated to be presented at the board's de- cision. The county highway com- missioner and commissioner were authorized to attend a regional highway conference of the Wolf River Basin Regional Planning Commission at Antigo Feb. 23.

His Greatest Achievement

Civil Rights Bill Hailed By Congressman Celler

BY JOSEPH R. COYNE
WASHINGTON (AP) — For Rep. Emanuel Celler, House passage of the administration's civil rights bill was the greatest achievement of his 42-year congressional career.

"I sort of feel like I climbed Mt. Everest and I'm just pausing up there and looking around," the 75-year-old New York Democrat said today in an interview.

As chairman of the powerful House Judiciary Committee, he had spent nine days guiding the civil rights bill through the House. Despite his years, he lost none of his bounce or his good humor during that time.

"It's the most important thing I've done," Celler said of the measure approved 290 to 139 Monday night. "and it's one of the most important things ever passed by the House."

The Judiciary Committee began its investigation of the civil rights bill almost one year ago Celler said it was the hardest year he has ever spent in Congress.

He attributed preparation and diplomacy for the committee's success in winning House passage of the legislation.

Never Cut Debate

"We didn't shut off debate," he explained. "The provocation was sometimes strong but we never shut it off. We set a tone of friendliness, good will and tolerance. We were very careful in everything. We didn't try to rub salt in the wounds. We tried to keep the debate high level."

By we, Celler made it plain that he meant other members of the Judiciary Committee who supported the civil rights bill, especially Rep. William M. McCulloch of Ohio, the senior Republican member.

"Bill McCulloch is entitled to tremendous credit," Celler said.

Felt Confident

The Brooklyn Democrat, who was first elected to Congress on Nov. 7, 1922, said he felt confident from the start that the House would pass the measure although he admitted worrying about possible crippling amendments to sections calling for a fair employment practices commission and cutting off federal aid to segregated programs.

Southern Democrats failed to win approval of any major amendments.

"It was preparation that put this over," Celler said.

Formation of New Africa Group Urged

BY COLIN FROST
DAR ES SALAAM, Tanganyika (AP) — President Julius Nyerere of Tanganyika called on the new organization of African unity today to consider forming a temporary African security force to prevent recurrence of the army mutinies that shook East Africa last month.

Urges Action

Nyerere told the 33-nation conference urgent action was needed to end the "national humiliation" experienced when British troops had to be called to put down last month's military mutinies in Tanganyika, Kenya and Uganda.

Nyerere said there was no evidence "to suggest that the mutinies in Tanganyika were inspired by outside forces, either Communist or imperialist."

The mutinies in all three countries were aimed ostensibly at the British officers commanding native troops, but all challenged the authority of the new African governments.

Troop Training

Nyerere said it would take considerable time to train native troops to operate without British help.

"It may well be," he said, "that Africa can find from Africa means of assisting Tanganyika in the task of maintaining law and order while we are training our forces."

In matters of this kind the cooperation of other states is required and we are concerned that problems arising from the mutiny should be dealt with in a way which fosters and not harms the common objective of African unity."

and the demand for Nossenko's return.

Nossenko arrived in Geneva Jan. 29. Disarmament conference documents listed him as an expert without specifying his particular field.

Soviet sources in Geneva called Nossenko a legal expert of the Soviet foreign ministry. This presumably would give him access to Soviet defense secrets and negotiating plans for the disarmament conference which resumed its talks here Jan. 21.

The Soviet delegation kept Nossenko's disappearance secret for three days. They informed Swiss police only after apparently becoming convinced that he had slipped to the West.

Crossed Into France

Possibly as a result of the incident, Soviet bloc delegates suddenly became nervous and irritable last week. There were indications that Tsarapkin feared Nossenko might have betrayed Soviet conference strategy to the West.

Swiss officials said Nossenko crossed into France by way of one of the many crossing points near Geneva with his diplomatic passport.

Nossenko lived with about 10 other Soviet delegation members in a small hotel on Avenue Wendt in the Servette district of Geneva.

On the day he vanished, the Russians at the hotel were all packing and moving to the delegation headquarters.

There was speculation that Nossenko picked this particular day for his departure because the general bustle of moving allowed him to take his belongings out of the hotel without arousing suspicion.

An international search warrant for Nossenko was circulated through Interpol to France and several other west European countries, but brought no clue as to his whereabouts.

cause its troops now police an uneasy truce between the warring Greek and Turkish Cypriot communities. The United States was the other because it has offered to help with the police work.

Drop NATO Proposal

As President Johnson's troubleshooter, Ball is expected to outline the latest U.S.-British proposal for an international peace force for Cyprus.

British officials in London said the revised plan gives United Nations a voice but no vote on peacekeeping operations and abandons a previous condition that the force be raised from partners in the North Atlantic alliance.

Makarios turned down the original plan because of the dominant role it gave the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and insisted that any international force on Cyprus be under control of the U.N. Security Council.

The United States and Britain have sought to keep the Security Council out of the dispute since it would then come under the threat of a Soviet veto. Moscow has assailed the proposed use of left a snow cover in only the NATO forces in Cyprus.

H. A. Giese, Ex-Mayor Of Wausau, Dies

WAUSAU (AP) — Herbert A. Giese, who had served longer as mayor of Wausau than any other man and planned to bid for the post again in next month's primary, died at his home Monday night after suffering a heart attack.

Giese, who was 56, served 12 years as mayor before leaving office in 1954. He also had spent six years as a member of the city council and the county board.

Confesses He Killed 3 in Knife Attacks

Also Wounded 2 Others; Says He 'Just Got Urge'

OAKLAND, Calif. (AP) — An unemployed Oakland man today admitted the knife slaying of three strangers and serious attacks on two other men, Oakland police said.

Homicide officers quoted Clarence Harold Hardy, 33, as saying he stabbed the men because "I just got an urge."

Police said the same knife was used in fatal slayings — the latest on Monday.

Hardy was arrested in an extensive manhunt that was spurred Monday when George Gilson, a retired railroad conductor, was fatally stabbed while returning home from a grocery store. He managed to tell witnesses that the attacker was a stranger.

Series of Attacks

Here's the series of attacks police say Hardy admitted: On Feb. 4 he stabbed a man at the Trans-Bay Terminal in San Francisco. The victim did not die.

Later that day, Hardy went to Oakland and fatally stabbed Jack Woodward, 38.

Four days later, Roscoe Belcher, 43, of Oakland was stabbed in the chest by a shabbily dressed man who asked for a match. Belcher did not know the man.

Monday, according to Hardy's admission, he "got the urge" again. That's when Gilson was stabbed.

Police report Hardy is a Negro and all his victims except Gilson were Negroes.

Police said the other knifing Hardy admitted occurred in 1963 in Los Angeles.

Rocky Shocked by Johnson's Plea to Limit Politics

NEW YORK (AP)—Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller today described as "a shocking statement" President Johnson's comment that politics should be confined to events within the nation's borders.

The candidate for the Republican presidential nomination said that criticism of the nation's foreign policy was entirely legitimate "in view of the way things have been going—or not been going."

The governor commented in an airport interview en route to New Hampshire for a three-day campaign swing. Rockefeller said that, by not criticizing where criticism is merited, "we sacrifice our greatest heritage."

500 Idea Letters A Day Received by Johnson's Idea Man

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP) — President Johnson's new idea man is getting about 500 letters a day in response to his request for ideas.

Prof. Eric Frederick Goldman of Princeton University was appointed by Johnson last week to keep new ideas flowing into the White House. The professor said he has been opening letters ever since.

In an interview Tuesday, Goldman said about 20 per cent offer impractical suggestions; 25 per cent are serious suggestions by experts in various fields; 50 per cent are good proposals from educated citizens, who are not expert in the field

Public morality (is) every day doubly offended by miserable scandals of bad customs and by publicity which spread them (the scandals) and makes pastures of those openly immoral spectacles which dishonor art, corrupt people, ignore the secret character of life and, what is worse, offend the law of God."

The Pope urged the preachers "to stimulate the spirits to better thoughts and aims," a thing which he said was in the present day "an urgent and grave task."

about which they write, and the remaining 5 per cent contain personal appeals for money.

Court Upsets Annexation at Fond du Lac

nished by the Town of Fond du Lac.

In the annexation case, the city owned 95 acres of the 197-acre tract.

The Town of Fond du Lac and the two companies alleged that the annexation was void because signatures on the petition were secured "by flagrant use of economic pressure."

The city purchased the 95 acres and then offered two tenants a year's free rent if they would vote for the annexation and threatened two other tenants with eviction unless they did the same.

The Supreme Court rejected a Fond du Lac argument that it could do as it wished with its property in the same manner as any other property owner.

Votes Not Commodity

"The signing of an annexation petition, like voting constitutes participation in a governmental process," Hallows said, "and is governed by a higher standard of conduct than prevails in the market place. Votes are not a commodity of commerce."

Hallows said the city's action "was the equivalent of buying votes and improper."

The court also found that the city had excluded part of the Kieckhafer property from the annexation "solely to preclude the electors from participating" in the petition. It found the exclusion not justified.

Justices Thomas E. Fairchild and Horace Wilkie filed a concurring opinion in which they said the annexation was invalid because signatures on the petition were improperly obtained by the city.

UAW Official Contradicts Kohler Leader

Emil Mazey Denies Statements Made by Firm's Vice President

GREEN BAY — The second in command of the powerful United Auto Workers union contradicted statements by a Kohler Co. official in a talk to the Downtown Kiwanis Club here. Emil Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, called charging System's Ed Sullivan as of union dictatorship by Kohler Vice President Lyman Conger "ridiculous", and differed with the Sheboygan firm official on at least five other points. Conger spoke to the Kiwanis Club Oct. 21. Mazey's appearance here being "the other side of the coin."
Conger said labor unions have more power over employees than companies ever dreamed of. "This is ridiculous," charged Mazey. "Unions are engaged in all political activities, but officials tell no one how to vote," he added.

Unions examine the records and philosophies of candidates and make recommendations. "If we told members how to vote, they'd be sure and vote opposite," Mazey said.

"I've been called a political boss, controlling votes," he went on, "but I control only one vote — mine. I'm not even sure of my wife's."

Calling union officials a "favored class," Conger charged them with claiming the right of exclusive representation of all employees of a business, even those who do not wish to be represented. "A Taft-Hartley Law provision requires the union to represent all employees in a union shop," countered Mazey. "The union has tried to represent only members, but found this to be in violation of the law," he claimed. Representation by one union of all employees has resulted in progress and labor stability, he added.

Congr also charged unions with power to bind members to contracts contrary to their wishes. Mazey denied this, stating "Conger forgets that no contract is binding unless it is accepted by the workers in a secret ballot."

The Sheboygan industrialist also charged the federal government with forcing three-quarters of union members to join a union. "This is not true," Mazey answered. "Workers join freely." In one three-year period, of the 56,000 National Labor Relations Board representation election, 90 per cent resulted in union affiliation, Mazey stated.

More Democratic
"In fact, unions are the most democratic organizations in the country, much more so than industry."

During a question and answer period, Mazey said UAW President Walter Reuther's suggestion to reduce the price of General Motors cars by $200 would help the worker and consumer, would not affect Ford, "but may have an effect on American Motors."

To another question on how embezzlement of union funds can occur, Mazey said between 1958 and 1960 there were 14,000 embezzlements in banks, compared with 64 in over 60,000 trade union locals. "The records of unions is better than that of banks," he asserted.

He said the goals of the UAW are toward social progress and "I don't advocate government control of all the means of production (socialism). We are for full employment, civil rights, adequate medical care for all, and federal housing; against injustice in any field."

Ghana Receives Embassy Protest

ACCRA, Ghana (AP) — The U.S. Embassy has protested to Ghana's Foreign Ministry against "scurrilous attacks" on an American Negro attaché who replaced an American flag torn down during a Ghanaian demonstration.

The U.S. protest cited an article in the government-controlled Ghanaian Times which criticized the attaché, A. Emerson Player of Denver, for replacing the banner. The paper said Player and other members of the U.S. Embassy staff were engaged in "nefarious activities."

Dust Bowls Problem for Soviet Union

MOSCOW (AP) — The dust bowls that plagued the United States in the 1930s have come to the Soviet Union, already beset by grain and meat shortages.

Agriculture Minister Ivan Volovchenko told the Communist party Central Committee Monday that about three million acres of arable land are abandoned each year in the Soviet Union.

"Wind and water erosion are inflicting tremendous damage on agriculture," he told a committee meeting in the Kremlin.

"We must take all measures for the restoration and preservation of the fertility of eroded soil."

"In our opinion, it is necessary to adopt a special law which would provide for the strict accountability of all departments, organizations, collective and state farms for preserving soil riches and for the sensible use of agricultural land."

Not all the three million acres abandoned annually are dust bowls. "Huge areas are subjected to erosion, become overgrown with brush, are turned into swamps and are taken out of agricultural use," Volovchenko said.

While he did not say so, wind damage is high in the arid virgin lands of Kazakhstan and Siberia that Premier Khrushchev ordered plowed up to boost grain production.

There is not enough rainfall in these areas to provide a crop cover against the winds. This was the case in the dust bowls of the U.S. Southwest and High Plains three decades ago.

A Panama Secret Leaks Out

It now develops that the real thorn in our dealings with Panama is a secret memorandum signed in 1962 between the late President Kennedy and Panamanian President Roberto Chiari which stated that a new treaty would have to be negotiated for the Panama Canal.

This revelation makes it abundantly clear why our discussions with the Panamanians are in deadlock. President Chiari has insisted before and after the tragic riots in the Canal Zone that the canal agreement must be renegotiated. We have insisted that we will not discuss that subject. And now it comes out that President Kennedy committed us to such a discussion almost two years ago.

In fact it is reported in Washington that American officials have privately agreed in the recent conversations with Panama on the principle of treaty renegotiation, but that fears of adverse public opinion in this country have prevented them from saying publicly what they have said privately.

It is no wonder that the Panamanians are upset.

Federal Help for the Aged

A presidential council on aging has come up with some recommendations for helping the elderly segment of our national population. The principal proposals as usual would put the federal government in the position as caretaker for these people.

One suggestion was that Social Security benefits to the aged should be increased, but significantly the report did not mention how much Social Security taxes would have to be raised to accomplish this. In fact the report was intentionally vague on this point so as not to interfere with the Administration's current campaign in Congress to cover medical expenses of the aged under Social Security.

But another proposal was interesting because it is a new and unique one. It suggested that the government work out a program under which the elderly could turn their investment in their homes into cash while continuing to live in them.

The report pointed out that two-thirds of the elderly live in their own homes and 80 per cent of these are mortgage free. It suggested that the government might issue bonds—perhaps a $100 bond per month—up to the total equity in the homes. A home owner would keep on living in his house but upon his death the property would be turned over to the government for resale.

A modification of such a plan is already in effect in Wisconsin. Persons receiving old age relief, and those who will receive medical aid under the Kerr-Mills program, sign over their property to the state which takes it over at their death and sells it to recover the amount of aid issued.

Of course an individual can now do on his own what the federal program could do for him. He can sell his home, often with a provision for life tenancy, and invest the proceeds in government bonds or other securities which he can liquidate as he needs cash.

One of the facts of modern economic life which dissuades an elderly person from doing so is the capital gains tax imposed by both federal and state governments. Maybe the simplest method for accomplishing what the presidential council wishes to do would be to exempt the elderly from capital gains on the sale of property they have accumulated for use in their old age.

There is another psychological factor involved, however. The elderly derive a great sense of security from owning their own home and being assured they have a place to live until their death. The Wisconsin provision for liens on property of those receiving state aid has never been popularly accepted.

Many elderly people simply would not trade this security for government bonds or cash.

A Different Competition

The Soviet Union Winter Olympic team left the games with an all-time high total of gold, silver and bronze medals. There was never any serious competition for the number one spot. The Russians did it with a combination of firm government sponsorship and regulation and dedicated individual training for the glory of the homeland. The Russian athletes were not cynical about their backing. Rather they are inclined to be naive but no one can take away from them their own devotion to the cause they performed for.

But at least fifteen men and women from Communist countries defected to the freedom of the West during the games. Most of them were in tourist groups from Eastern European satellite nations. All had been carefully screened to determine their Red reliability and adherence to party principles. At least one was a member of an Olympic team and even more carefully investigated and brainwashed.

And still they chose not to go home. The Western nations, in particular the United States, did not have a great many moments to cheer about at the games. The lack of strict and determined training is probably one of our greatest handicaps.

But who really won at Innsbruck?

The Mauston Potato Plant

The hazards which exist in community development corporations trying to attract new industry with the help of federal grants and loans was demonstrated forcibly again at Mauston where an Oregon concern suddenly cancelled plans to build a $2,832,200 potato processing plant after local investors had put up $282,322 and the federal government had granted a loan of $1,835,096.

Just a day after it had assured potato growers in the area that construction would start by mid-February, Ore-Ida Foods, Inc., announced it had cancelled the project.

The company stated that it had come to the conclusion that sufficient potatoes could not be raised at advantageous prices in the Mauston area. There were intimations the plant might be relocated in Minnesota where growing conditions were more advantageous.

From this distance one wonders why this important fact was not checked out long before plans for the plant were finalized.

But in the final analysis the Mauston experience only proves again that inducements such as community contributions and government loans will not attract new industry unless the economic feasibility for that industry is sound in the first place.

Looking Backward

Doctors Kept Busy in Appleton

100 YEARS AGO
Quoted from the Appleton Motor for Feb. 11, 1964.

A large amount of sickness, mostly diphtheria, typhoid fever and throat diseases, have been experienced in our city more than ever before this winter. Though, not more than is being experienced in other places, according to the number of inhabitants.

Our doctors are on the go all the time. Dr. Whittlesey has a very large practice in both the County and City. Dr. Page, we learn, has scarcely had a whole night's rest for weeks. Doctors Ostrander and Sutherland also are both busy.

We publish a formula for a throat-wash for the cure of diphtheria. We are informed that it has been used in Appleton with the most positive success. It may be the means of relief in some extreme case to some of our citizens suddenly attacked with this strange disease. All should preserve this paper, or cut out the formula and preserve it for a time of need.

Diphtheria Wash: 1 drachm (dram) Golden Seal, pulverized; 1 drachm borax; 1 drachm black pepper; 1 drachm alum; 1 drachm nitrate of potash; 2 drachms of salt.

Put all into common-sized tea-cup or vessel which holds about four ounces. Then pour half full of boiling water, stir well, and fill full of good vinegar. This is fit for use when it settles. Swab the mouth and throat well every full hour, every half hour if the case is bad.

23 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Feb. 8, 1939.

Miss Verdyne Voss was elected president of the Theda Clark Hospital Nurses Association. Miss Alice Kersten was named vice president. Miss Eibei Mortensen, secretary, and Miss Doris Barkley, treasurer.

Anthony Van Stralen was named junior prom king at Kimberly High School.

Mary Ellen Notaras was chosen to play the leading role of Abby in Sidney Howard's "The Late Christopher Bean," Appleton High School's junior class play.

Hostesses for the 40th anniversary meeting of the Ladies Aid Society of Zion Lutheran Church, Appleton, included Mrs. Louis Theria, Mrs. Marie Beske, Mrs. Herman Lemke, Mrs. Joseph Treiber, Mrs. Henry Techlin, Mrs. Henry Schroeder, Mrs. Philip Bogt, Mrs. Hulda Radtke, Mrs. Otto Zimmerman and Mrs. Marie Gresenz.

Miss Lillian Rogers entertained Our Motto Club at her home the previous evening. A special prize was awarded to Miss Doretha Roehl. The evening was spent in sewing.

18 YEARS AGO
Wednesday, Feb. 10, 1951.

Parish officers elected at St. Edward Catholic Church, Mackville, included Cyril Baumann secretary, Robert Striegel, treasurer, Harold Schmeichel, Ray Ellenbecker, William Griesbach, H. Louis Griesbach, Fred Heimmermann and John Schmidt, parish consultants.

Joseph Van Handel was elected president of the Holy Name Society at Mackville. Other new officers included John Hofacker, vice president, and M. C. Heimmermann, secretary-treasurer.

Robert T. Maves, Appleton city clerk, was appointed to the resolutions committee for the 1954 conference of the National Institute of Municipal Clerks.

An engraved plaque honoring former state Sen. Gordon A. Bubolz was presented to the Appleton man at the Lincoln Day dinner the previous evening. The presentation was made by the Republican party for Bubolz' long service to the state and community in the legislature and in other civic activities.

People's Forum

Welfare Director Cites Other Side of City Hiring Outsiders

Editor, Post-Crescent:

On Sunday, February 9, an article in the People's Forum really broke the camel's back with me. I refer very directly to the person who signed his or her name as "An Innocent Bystander." I cannot, in true conscience, let this pass without response. I truly hope that whoever wrote those words in that article reads my rebuttle and I personally invite that person to take further issue with me after reading what I have to say.

The first item I wish to put in the record straight is that inference that "out of town" hiring of personnel for City of Appleton jobs. As one of those people, I would very much like to have you know the other side of the coin, which I might remind you, there are two sides. When I applied for the position I now hold in your city government, I would like to emphasize that I answered an ad in the Milwaukee Journal, not the Post-Crescent. I answered this ad in good faith and realizing that I would have to relocate and leave my present position. I answered the ad, it was replied to, I submitted my wares, and I was accepted. Not by any other method, but simple unadulterated answering a legitimate ad. I was interviewed, I was voted on, and I was ultimately hired.

Now to bring you the facts. In accepting the position, I had to sell a home, bring my wife and three children to a new location, make new friends, accept an altogether different attitude of those about me, and face the hazards of taking a chance that I could and would do what was expected of me. I offered nothing but ten years of experience to my new employer, nothing else, and I had at least eleven other people to compete with for the job. Did the City say I was not qualified because I was not from Appleton? No, they simply wanted the best man for the job that was available. In their opinion, they believed that I was and they hired me. There were local people considered, but apparently they felt I was best for the job. If this is discrimination towards local people, then I invite you to review the qualifications of those who competed with me. In my opinion, those responsible for hiring me used the high standards of ethics in hiring the best available and did not let political pressures or personal gains influence their decisions. For them, I have the highest respect which prompts me to give the best that's in me.

For the record, let me tell you what it means to leave your job, your friends, and in fact, reasonable security. It means faith in yourself, ability, and experience. It means faith in your family and their faith in you. It means accepting come what may, but sticking together. It means starting a new life at an age when maybe others would not. It means not only being accepted, but to accept. It means personal sacrifice and frustration.

As for job openings that are posted, let me tell you this. I presently have a job posted and do you know what, no one locally, so far, that has applied qualifies, not only in the specifications of the position, but as to their employment record as well. I may and probably will have to go outside of the city to find the right man for the job. Is this my fault? No sir, it's a simple rule of not selling a job, but buying a service.

Now comes the part of the questions concerning merit raises. For me personally, I believe there is no such thing as a merit raise in our city government. Why, because as long as "merit" raises are published and of public knowledge, we who try to administer merit raises do not have the true mechanics to really recommend merit raises. If you give your worthy personnel a raise, you ultimately must give them all a raise simply because of publicity. And let's get this one straight, time in a job does not qualify raises. It is results, productivity, quality, and service that merits a true raise. All too many employers today grant raises they would not ordinarily grant if time on a job had to be the first consideration. All too many marginal employees get their raises on the strength of an employee who carries the load. It's unfortunate, but it's all too true.

As for my raise in 1964, you might be interested to know that I did not ask for a raise. In fact my committee saw fit to recommend a two step raise. This indeed was flattering, but it did tell me of their recognition of a job they felt was well done and of their support. This alone was worth far more than a raise in itself to me. Also, there has been a change in allowances in the use of my private automobile for city business which will actually mean approximately $200 a year less income even with the 1964 raise. In 1963 I was awarded an across the board 2 per cent raise that all city employees were granted. Last week I answered a police call on a Saturday evening. This netted me 30 cents, for three miles of driving. No other compensation do I receive. This reminds me, ask any policeman of any rank, he'll tell you, when they call, I respond and I act. I do not say wait until office hours. I never collected a red cent for the off duty hours I've put in at any time of the day or night. I accept this as part of my job.

As for the college degree the "Innocent Bystander" refers to, we have something in common. Experience teaches like no other. But, each of us have our own education, experience, and work record which decides who qualifies for what. I do not believe you or I should judge others but only ourselves.

In March I will start my fourth year in Appleton. I am proud to be a registered voter in Appleton and vote in every election. Do you know that less than 50 per cent registered voters in Appleton vote? Check the record. As an outsider, as you say, I at least take the time to vote.

By the way, as a comparative newcomer to your city, since I have been here it is with pride to inform you that our department has not cost the taxpayer one additional mill on the tax rolls.

Face it, Appleton is growing so fast that it is hard to conceive. This means that more people will come to Appleton, more business, and more problems. This means we can no longer think singly, but accept the fact progress dictates its own action. No industry in the city can say it limits its hiring to local folk. They will honestly tell you they fill the job with the best qualified available.

In conclusion, may I say this. Let's forget personalities, personal problems and prejudices. Let's look at this like adults and accept the fact that progress means changes, and changes are progress. Each of us has our own opinions of ourselves and our abilities. But in truth, let's be honest with ourselves and take an accounting of our accomplishments. We may not have as many as we would like to think, but let's at least be honest enough to have a little attribute of humbleness. The Personnel Committee of Appleton is doing a splendid job in spite of criticisms. They have so little to work with at the start.

Merton P. Ehrlicke, Director, Welfare Department, City of Appleton

Coleman Era in State Politics Evaluated as Aftermath of His Death

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON—The political career of Thomas E. Coleman, who died at Madison last week, represented what will be regarded as one of the significant eras in the modern history of Wisconsin.

No man who did not hold high public office during the last 35 years had such a formidable impact on the public affairs of the state. Without his resolute spirit and his great skill in maintaining a nucleus of organization in his beloved Republican party during the discouraging years of its defeats, the realignment of the state political system could not have been achieved.

In the political folklore of Wisconsin the name of "Boss" Keyes, so-called, looms large. He was the regular Republican who fought the first LaFollette in the late 19th century and lost. It is not difficult to predict that as the history of this period is written, the name of "Boss" Coleman will stand out even more dominantly, as the man more responsible than any other individual for the final dissolution of the LaFollette political power half a century later.

LONG CAMPAIGN

Because he had worked quietly as party financier during the dark days of the 1930's, the party could exploit the change in electoral tastes that brought the overthrow of the Phil LaFollette administration in 1939. Because he rose to the official leadership of the party in the years following and maintained his single-minded resolve to establish the Republican regulars solidly, Sen. Robert M. LaFollette Jr. was unhorsed in 1946.

Inevitably Coleman has become associated with what history now calls the McCarthy era, and it is probably true that if he had resisted the McCarthy candidacy in 1946 the hitherto little-known judge from Appleton would not have risen to the place and the power he was to achieve in the following decade. Yet the story of that period cannot be fully understood without a recording of the fact that McCarthy was not Coleman's choice for challenging Sen. LaFollette. He wanted Walter J. Kohler of Sheboygan, four years later to become governor. But Kohler was dissuaded by McCarthy who convinced him that in a three-way fight for the Republican nomination LaFollette would be almost certain to win. Coleman backed McCarthy when he seemed to be the only available candidate with a fair chance—and his judgment was vindicated when LaFollette was defeated by a handful of votes.

BOSS?

Tom Coleman never fitted the stereotyped image of the political "boss." His urbanity, cool courtesy, meticulous sense of order in organization affairs that amounted almost to extravagance, and cultivated tastes distinguished him from most politicians.

His strong attachment for Sen. Robert Taft, whose presidential campaign he led in 1952, was an inevitable consequence of his personality and character. Coleman dominated his party for years without benefit of a whisper of patronage. His influence reflected the confidence of a man who knows his capacity and puts an accurate value on it.

It was inevitable also that the strong-minded Coleman's relations with the men he had helped to rise to high place were not always easy after the votes were counted. He quarreled with Govs. Heil and Goodland, and later had a falling out with his protege Walter Kohler, when he felt those men were exaggerating their own importance, as temporary stars on the stage, and snubbing the interests of the party organization which Coleman conceived, as do all serious partisans, as a permanent instrument for representing a political program.

Yet throughout his exciting and eventful life he had the respect of his contemporaries, friend and foe. That will be his most important epitaph.

Strictly Personal

The Way In Is Easy; The Way Out Is Hard

BY SYDNEY J. HARRIS

If there were only one thing I could say to young people, to which I knew they would listen, it would be the simple statement of fact: the way in is easy, the way out is hard.

This is true for any kind of trouble, for any mode of life, for any form of habit. Consider, as a minor but vexing example, the tortures we middle-aged people are going through in order to stop smoking.

The way in was so easy, so pleasant, so effortless. It made us feel grownup and sophisticated at 16, or whenever we started. Now a generation later, we are pathetic slaves to a habit we resent and despise ourselves for more than we enjoy it.

Every day we read stories about men who "borrowed" money from their company for playing the stock market or other types of gambling. They all believed they could make restitution; but without exception they got in above their heads, and before they knew it, vast sums had been embezzled. The way in was so easy.

A sexual affair may begin as a gay, adventurous lark—but when the fun is over, the way out may be perilous, damaging, disastrous, in any of a dozen different ways. There is only one kind of happiness, but an almost infinite number of troubles. The odds are forbidding.

I was looking through Edmund Wilson's sad and bitter little book over the weekend—the book in which he tries to explain his income tax problems. He was unbelievably stupid in failing to file returns in his "poor" years—but, again, for him it was apparently so easy to do nothing, to let things drift, to keep compounding his tragic mistake.

He will be paying the rest of his life for this mistake, for this error of slackness. The future finally catches up with us, in one way or another: tomorrow demands tribute from yesterday; what we do (or do not do) determines what we become; and the interest of these charges mounts until it overwhelms the principal.

The deck is stacked against us from the beginning, whether you call it "original sin," or some other, more scientific, name. There are a hundred ways to do a thing wrong, and only one way to do it right. The possibilities for error are numerous, attractive and plausible. Life is a series of booby traps disguised as blessings, of wrong turnings marked "This Way to the Fun House."

This is the only thing I would say to young people. But would they listen? Or would they understand? Any more than I did at their age? Can we learn from anyone else? Is it possible to believe what we have not felt, have not experienced? Knowledge can be transmitted; but the wisdom of the aching bone seems somehow incommunicable.

Potomac Fever — by Fletcher Knebel

Two firsts: A U.S. rocket reaches the Moon's Sea of Tranquility—and our State Department is awash in oceans of intransigency.

The Republican Presidential race has eight candidates. One more, and they could play the New York Mets.

Peace Corps boss Sargent Shriver is named to direct LBJ's war on poverty. It figures. Since he's been the Peace Corps man, there isn't much peace. So if he's the poverty man, there won't be much poverty.

Republicans complain that Lyndon Johnson is a true music lover. He doesn't want to face the music on his stereo—just wants to play it.

Course Should be Required

Too Few Receiving Driver Education

BY FRED SNYDER
MADISON (AP) — "The percentage of Wisconsin high school students receiving approved driver education—25 per cent—is too low."
"Complete driver education courses should be required in all high schools."
"Stronger emphasis should be given summer driving programs to give young people more activity in their leisure time."
"Accident rates would drop if more youngsters obtained the right kind of driver training."
"Schools could do more to make safe young drivers if there was money to expand programs."

These were some of the expressions in response to an Associated Press survey on school officials' evaluation of driver training for high school students.

Few Replies
Only a few replies indicated satisfaction with keeping programs as they are. Many schools are working on program improvement plans.

The survey was undertaken to examine the many facets connected with driver education. This was done because of the increasing number of accidents, the low percentage of young people attending approved driver schools and the prospects for the immediate future.

Approved driver training involves specified hours of classroom work and separate behind-the-wheel instruction. Studies show the properly trained driver is a safer one than the untrained. Auto insurance rates are lower for a young driver with approved training background.

Most Schools
Most schools require classroom work as part of the curriculum. Many schools have ties with vocational schools to make on-the-road training available. A complete driving course consists of 30 hours of classroom work, six hours of behind-the-wheel instruction and six hours of accompanying an instructor teaching another student driver. Schools get state but 90 per cent of the students eligible are enrolled.

Wisconsin Rapids school board president John Crook said there has been pressure from local enforcement officers for a mandatory program but the board had been unable to find the money needed.

William Goetz, veteran instructor in the Wisconsin Rapids vocational school, said he rarely sees a former student appearing at a class he conducts for traffic offenders. "There are testimonials from many graduates of approved driver education saying they wish they had been exposed to training earlier in life," he added.

"Our program should be expanded to serve more students, both in terms of more teachers and added facilities," said Fred Cruckson, instruction service head for Fond du Lac's school system, and added:

"It should be made a required part of a health, safety and physical education course in high school."

Two Rivers officials called their program outstanding, noting that in the 1962-63 school year, 274 high school students completed classroom work and 183 finished behind-the-wheel training.

Classes Filled
Eau Claire superintendent Homer E. DeLong said courses at Memorial and North high schools are always filled to capacity, but "we can't reach all students who want to take training because of class schedules and lack of finances to enlarge the program with more teachers and training cars."

Russell Way, Green Bay superintendent, said about one-fourth of all students completing both in terms of more teachers and added facilities.

Many school men declared that complete driver education show that family income, measured in present values, went up $1,800 nationally between 1947 and 1962. It was an average rise of $120 a year.

One of the factors contributing to the large gain in income, it states, has been the increasing proportion of working wives in recent years.

LBJ May Choose Wisconsin Stand-In

State 'Favorite Son' Presidential Nominee Seen by Party as Touchy

BY JOHN WYNGAARD
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MADISON — The White House will probably decide the touchy problem of selecting a Democratic "favorite son" who will run as a stand-in for President Lyndon Johnson in the Democratic presidential primary in Wisconsin April 7.

That is the most acceptable conclusion based on recent uneasy comments of state party leaders reflecting the internal frictions and rivalries of the principal men within the Democratic state organization.

The choice of a stand-in is likely to be confined to Gov. John W. Reynolds and Sen. Gaylord Nelson, among the most widely known representatives of the state party. Sen. William Proxmire's rank in the party would also put him in the running, but he has already ruled himself out. Chairman Louis Hanson of the state party committee is also sometimes mentioned, probably as a reflection of the strained relations between the Reynolds and Nelson factions within the party.

Stand-in Device

Democratic organization politicians are preparing the stand-in device because they know the President is not likely to commit himself at the early date required for a Wisconsin primary filing. He would have to certify his candidacy here not later than March 7, while if he avoids participation in primaries — as befits a man who is in a situation where only an accident could prevent his renomination by acclamation at the August convention — he could avoid the appearance of political campaigning for many additional weeks.

But, it may not be easy to find a nominal candidate for the Wisconsin delegate election to accommodate the technical requirements of Wisconsin election laws, because of the unsettled condition of the state party machine.

Reynolds Willing

Gov. Reynolds months ago casually mentioned his own willingness to occupy the favorite son role, apparently without any notion he might find some opposition for such a plan.

When his followers collided with those of Sen. Nelson at the last meeting of the state party committee, the name of Nelson turned up in party speculations as a logical candidate for the favorite son position.

The state committee is expected to make the decision, and invite the man of its choice to run as a nominal presidential contender, when it holds its next meeting here Feb. 29.

Role Important

Among practical politicians, the favorite son role is primarily important as a means of providing additional promotion and "exposure" for a candidate who may gain from it in a later election. Thus Gov. Reynolds, preparing for what will undoubtedly be a difficult re-election campaign, might find a strong effort behind his name beneficial and especially since there would be substantial publicity dividends at the convention.

Sen. Nelson has no immediate worries about such personal promotion. His term has nearly five years to run.

But the connotations of the "favorite son" identity also imply the titular leadership of the party within the state. There was announced at Lincoln Day dinners and rallies that the principal speaker was necessarily willing to concede that to the absent, in order to carry out the civil rights program initiated by Lincoln more than 100 years ago.

'Seven Days in May' Completely Believable

Actors Perform With High Skill to Unfold Absorbing Political Story

BY BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — In "Seven Days in May," the latest in a series of films about high politics, we are asked to swallow a whopper: that the Joint Chiefs of Staff conspire at some future date to depose a president.

Fantastic? In this high-voltage movie the plot seems chillingly realistic. The result is a film that is absorbing throughout its two-hour length and almost unbearable tense during much of it.

"Seven Days in May" is not without its faults, but they do not stem from the actors. All of them perform with high skill, lending conviction to a tale that might easily have dipped into the preposterous.

Plot Rundown
Picture this: A Marine colonel, secretary to the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, begins getting hints that something strange is going on. High commanders read messages about a race-track pool. A secret command unit has been set up near El Paso. The general has been playing footsie with right-wingers and lying about it. Congress has been kept in the dark about an upcoming practice alert.

The colonel garners enough suspicions to impel him to seek an audience with the President. Then the President must determine: Are the colonel's suspicions correct? If so, what can be done to forestall the sedition?

The ingeniously devised yarn of the Fletcher Knebel-Charles W. Bailey II novel topped the best-seller lists for many weeks. The film version is likely to score equal success. It is time-honored, hard-hitting and perfectly cast.

Ideal Actor
No American actor can convey more conviction than Fredric March, and he makes an ideal president—philosophical in his lack of popularity, jealous of his constitutional rights, capable of decisive action.

March is followed closely by Edmond O'Brien as the senator from Georgia and the president's close ally. He combines charm with political acumen, and his humanness is ever apparent.

The nominal stars, Burt Lancaster and Kirk Douglas, perform with their usual skill and affection with his ability to imitate the egomaniacal general and the personate others. Ralph Bellamy suspiciously Marine. Awa Gardner and Jack Ging aren't so easily supplied a welcome note of captivated, and their suspicious femininity in three brief scenes, ultimately unmask McDowall.

Fringe Team Stars During Verne's Show

BY TV SCOUT

6:30-7:30 (Channel 2) — Chromovie the plot seems chillingly realistic. The result is a film that is absorbing throughout its two-hour length and almost unbearable tense during much of it.

7-7:30 (Channel 11) — The Patty Duke Show makes a good point: kids go steady too early.

8-9 (Channel 11) — Ben Casey has a slow-starting show that builds into a thoroughly intriguing plot. Bradford Dillman and Jeffery Morris are patients sharing a room. One is dying, the other has superficial injuries. When Morris' wife (Sally Kellerman) interests Dillman, there begins a duel of wits with a touch of pure evil thrown in.

8:30-9 (Channel 2) — The Dick Van Dyke Show takes another of its sporadic pokes at amateur psychiatry. Dick comes to think that perhaps it is psychosomatic, not physical, when he always gets sick as he's supposed to go away with Laura (Mary Tyler Moore) for a weekend.

9-10 (Channel 2) — The Dan Aykroyd Show has Peter Falk as guest, and he proves he can handle comedy neatly. The main skit is a wild desert-based bit, with Kave as a British intelligence officer, Falk as a sheik and everybody else a spy in disguise. Tony Chalmers has a rearguard a baroque-flavored dance number, with the camera discreetly cutting to the audience at strategic moments.

9-10 (Channel 45) — The Eleventh Hour has solid plot. Roddy McDowall plays an imposter, a near-genius who impersonates himself.

The nominal stars, Burt Lancaster and Kirk Douglas, perform with their usual skill and affection with his ability to imitate the egomaniacal general and the personate others. Ralph Bellamy suspiciously Marine. Awa Gardner and Jack Ging aren't so easily supplied a welcome note of captivated, and their suspicious femininity in three brief scenes, ultimately unmask McDowall.

The Proof Is in the pulling according to Joan Engels of New York City, who finds out that it's true the hair of Beatle drummer Ringo Starr is no prop. She is shown testing Ringo's moplike hairdo during a cocktail party for the British musicians in New York's Plaza Hotel. (AP Wirephoto)

Anne Bancroft In Hollywood For TV Show

Portrays First Woman President in Feb. 14 Bob Hope Program

BY BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Anne Bancroft, the incumbent Oscar winner, was in town this week, but not for long.

She was here from her New York home just long enough to do a comedy skit with Bob Hope in which she plays the first woman president. It will be featured on the Hope television show Feb. 14.

Ah, that's how it seems to be with Oscar winners in recent years—they win the big prize and Hollywood hardly sees them again. Some local citizens figured Miss Bancroft absented herself from the town because of her previous experience here. She spent seven lackluster years playing in B movies.

No Regrets
Yet she displayed not a trace of bitterness.

"Do I regret those years?" she says. "Not in the least. I often look back on them with a degree of fondness. They were carefree times and I really had a great deal of enjoyment."

But did she learn anything for her career?
"No, nothing of any value. When I left, I was undergoing a difficult period. I was getting a divorce (from builder Martin May) and that was bad. Also, I wanted to know if I should continue in the acting field. I wasn't so sure that I should."

Photography Director Gets Marquette Award

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Robert E. Gilka, director of photography for the National Geographic Magazine, Washington, D.C., has been named to receive the Byline Award of the Marquette University College of Journalism.

Gilka, former picture editor of the Milwaukee Journal, will receive the award March 1. The award, established in 1945, is presented to Marquette alumni who have distinguished themselves in journalism.

I should continue to be an actress and that I had potentialities.

They were soon realized. She tried out for the role of Gittel Mosca in William Gibson's "Two For the Seesaw." Her performance won critical raves and acting awards. A major reason for her success, she said, was because she had to work so hard.

Miss Bancroft went on to another William Gibson play, "The Miracle Worker," with equal success. This time the play's creators held onto the movie rights and filmed it themselves, with Anne and Patty Duke in their original roles. Both copped the big prize in a pleasant upset last April.

Latecomers To New Play Lucky Ones

BY WILLIAM GLOVER

NEW YORK (AP)—What with slushy streets and slow traffic, a lot of people arrived late for the Monday premiere of "Fair Game for Lovers" at Broadway's Cort Theater. They were the lucky ones.

The comedy—that's what the program said—is another one about a dad who doesn't want his daughter to wed. It was written by Richard Dougherty, a novelist and former deputy New York City police commissioner, in his stage-writing debut.

Heading the cast are Leo Genn, Forrest Tucker and Maggie Hayes. Neither they nor the rest of the cast directed by Paul Shyre do much for the script—or vice versa.

"Fair Game for Lovers," according to some lobby notices, was a hit during tryout in Milwaukee, and Pegeen Lawrence, a White Way newcomer with an
